Red Chinese President To Step Down

Peiping Insists He Is Still Boss; News Kept Secret Week

TOKYO (AP)—Mao Tze-tung is stepping down as President of Red China, Peiping confirmed today, but it insisted he is still boss.

After keeping it secret a week, Peiping radio let China's 600 millions in on the news. The shift was reported last weekend on Formosa, and Warsaw diplomats got confirmation Tuesday.

Despite Peiping's disclaimer, there was a feeling in Hong Kong, Seoul and Nationalist Formosa that Mao is being downgraded by the Communist apparatus and will eventually be stripped of power.

This opinion is based largely on reports of popular resentment in China over the commune system, which deprives the Chinese of their individuality and puts them to live in communities where their every action is subject to strict orders from above.

Peiping's broadcast today gave no clue on Mao's successor but speculation has centered around Marshal Chu Teh, now vice chairman of the government. Chu, at 72, is seven years older than Mao. They have long been comrades in arms.

Fearful of undermining the Red China regime or even planting the seeds for a possible revolt, the Communist party Central Committee emphasized that Mao was stepping down voluntarily.

Mao's four-year term as head of government expires in January. But he will remain in the powerful post as chairman of the Communist party. The People's Congress meets in Peiping next month to elect the chief of government.

Foreign diplomats drew varying

Panic Cited Reason For Many Deaths

Christmas Shoppers, Some Children And Employes Trapped

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Fire bred panic in a Bogota department store crowded with Christmas shoppers Tuesday night and sent scores of panic-stricken men, women and children to death.

Officials said 82 persons were killed and 50 injured. Most of them made a fatal wild scramble for a rear stairway that led only to a mezzanine.

Some died with toys in their arms. Others kneeled as if in prayer.

"The panic spread very quickly," said Alberto Mazuera, the manager.

Explosion of holiday lights had fired the clothing of salesgirls and sent a curtain of flame across the center of the long, narrow store, named Vida, on Septima Carrera avenue near the Capitol.

Mazuera said customers started bolting when they saw the salesgirls' clothing afire.

Those in front of the store had easy access to the street.

About half of the dead were employes of the store. The remainder were mostly women shoppers. It was estimated 10 children died in the fire, which raged for two hours before being brought under control.

A 16-year-old girl was found alive beneath a mass of bodies on the stairway. Her condition was critical.

The store is located in the central part of Bogota, and the crowds of Christmas shoppers both inside and out added to the chaos.

18 Homes Razed In California, 200 Others Threatened

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—Tragedy and sorrow lie today in the wake of a four-day brush fire that has flared over more than 50,000 acres of Southern California hills and canyons and is still out of control on nearly half its 75-mile perimeter.

While more than 2,000 men fight the stubborn flames, residents pick their way over the blackened earth to the ruins of their homes and summer cabins. Eighteen structures have been destroyed. More than 200 are still in peril.

In picturesque San Juan Canyon, scenic beauty is turned to rubble and ashes.

The canyon people who have returned share the common sadness of loss.

There is Joe Paseri. He came to the canyon to make his home in 1942. Beside the house was a great oak tree. Joe, 77, spent many day relaxing beneath its branches.

Driven out by the fire, Joe came back to the ruins of his cabin, the black skeleton of the oak tree. Joe, 77, spent many it.

"I don't know what to do," he said. "I feel like crying."

He reached into the ashes and picked up half of a figurine.

"St. Anthony," he said. "My wife's patron saint."

He sat down beside a blackened metal box, once his refrigerator. He cried.

There is Henry Emberg, who evacuated his home on the sheriff's orders and returned hopefully after the fire had passed. "There was nothing left," he said in shocked disbelief.

Missile Fired By U.S. From Pacific Base

Thor Marks First U.S. Firing Under Combat Conditions

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Out in the vast Pacific lies a symbol of America's growing space age might—the nose cone of the first ballistic missile launched at this West Coast base.

Neither the Air Force nor the Navy will make any attempt to recover the cone, hurled 1,500 miles across the Pacific missile range Tuesday. Yet it deserves a place in some museum of scientific endeavor.

For the cone of the medium range Thor missile, capable of carrying a nuclear warhead, marks America's first firing of a ballistics missile under combat conditions. It shows the Thor is moving from the development stage to the operational.

Another Thor was fired Tuesday night from Cape Canaveral, Fla., giving the United States its first double-barreled rocket shoot from both coasts. The weapon appeared to perform perfectly. It was fired as part of the close-out phase of the Air Force IRBM research and development program.

Here at Vandenberg, a regular Air Force crew pushed some buttons and the 50-ton weapon soared some 300 miles up to the fringes of space. The blastoff came only 11 minutes after the 11-man crew raised the Thor upright and began filling it with liquid fuel.

Unlike firings at Cape Canaveral, this was no test of an experimental rocket. No civilian experts hovered over their instruments watching for performance flaws that could be corrected in later models.

This was entirely a military operation, demonstrating that the

4 Missing In Crash Of Plane In Florida

A former New Cumberland man was one of four crew members listed as missing Tuesday night when an Air Force B-47 jet bomber exploded and crashed in Tampa Bay at St. Petersburg, Fla., about 300 yards from a thickly populated suburban area. No survivors were found.

He was Lt. Joseph D. Berardi, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berardi of 2nd Ave., New Cumberland. A graduate of New Cumberland High School and the West Virginia University, where he was a member of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, he was just completing his fourth year in the service.

MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa, which reported the six-engine medium bomber crashed about 10 minutes after leaving the base on a training flight, also listed as missing Capt. George E. Whitney, 37, the commander; Maj. Marcel F. D'Amico, 35, instructor navigator; Lt. Berardi, co-pilot, and Lt. William C. Bieler Jr., 24, navigator.

All resided in Tampa. One body was recovered by the Coast Guard but identification had not been established.

Leon Siegfried, a resident of Coquina Key said it appeared the pilot tried to avoid crashing into the residential area.

"It looked like the pilot slipped off to one side to avoid the island," he said. "When it hit I didn't see anything but flames. It blew up when it hit."

A witness said he saw the plane's right wing on fire just before the craft hit the water. He said the jet appeared to settle for 30 seconds, then exploded and burst into flames again.

Lt. Berardi's wife is the former Ann Ferrante of Follansbee. They have a daughter, Donata, 2.

Outlines Present Strength, Future Needs

NATO Chief Urges Atlantic Pact Countries To Speed Missile Arms

PARIS (AP)—NATO's supreme commander in Europe, U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, pleaded with the Atlantic Pact countries today to move quickly into missile rearmament.

In a strong presentation to the foreign ministers of the 15-nation alliance, Norstad outlined present strength and future needs in the face of Soviet military swaggering, primarily over Berlin.

Informed sources said Norstad told the secret gathering his military command needs intermediate-range American guided missiles as soon as they can be placed on the European bases from which they could reach the Soviet Union.

Only Britain has thus far accepted these missiles. The Italians are close to signing a similar agreement. French delay on acceptance is the big stumbling block to getting what Norstad considers an adequate force of missiles in Europe.

Norstad's speech was described as sober and serious. A NATO spokesman, asked if the commander expressed satisfaction with Allied military progress, replied:

"It would be wrong to conclude that there was any optimism or pessimism. Realism would be a better word."

Before Norstad spoke, many of the delegates displayed little or no sense of urgency toward the strengthening of land forces or equipping them with missiles. For one thing, U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had told them Tuesday with the statement that "our military advisers are absolutely confident that the Soviet Union will not risk war over Berlin."

Soviet warnings of nuclear war if the West insists on continued access to West Berlin were termed by Dulles "empty threats which ought not frighten anyone."

Norstad also appealed for speedy fulfillment of NATO plans for 30 full-strength, combat-ready divisions in Europe, plus 100 battalions armed with short-range, tactical missiles by 1963. So far the NATO force lacks half of the divisions, due chiefly to the lag in West German armament and the diversion of most French strength from Europe to fight Algerian rebels.

A military report to the NATO ministers warned that the Russians could launch a massive attack without resorting to weapons of mass destruction.

Informants said the Russians could throw one million men into a central European attack. The Soviet military power was estimated at 170 line divisions of 2,500,000 men, 20,000 planes and 500 submarines.

Norstad's appeals were backed by the other top NATO commanders at the conference.

The naval men have been urging more antisubmarine forces—planes, destroyers and escort vessels. They feel their forces now are adequate only for the most limited defense, with no extras in case of war.

Judge Grants Man's Appeal For Jail Term

A man facing Judge George L. Brokaw on an intoxication charge today argued successfully for a term in County Jail, although he had to persuade the court not to give him the usual $10 fine.

Raymond Franklin of East Liverpool told Judge Brokaw he has no home and no job and he feels a stretch in the county jail would "help me get off the booze."

When Franklin pleaded guilty, the court prepared to sentence him to the usual $10 fine.

"Why not give me two or three months?" Franklin argued. "That's what the judge in Cleveland does. I'm out of work and I have no place to stay and that would get me off the booze."

The judge asked how Franklin managed to get drunk repeatedly if he had no job.

"Those drinks are bought for me by people I used to work with in the pottery," Franklin said.

"Well, they should be in here with you," the judge commented.

Judge Brokaw indicated again he would fine Franklin $10, holding off on a County Jail sentence until his next offense.

"Why not this time?" Franklin said. "I've been getting into the city jail every week and I'm about to starve to death."

Relenting, the judge said: "With your permission, I'll change this to a violation under state law and fine you $50 and costs." Receiving credit of $3 a day, Franklin will be behind bars about 20 days to "lay out" the fine and $6 costs.

Files Form At Youngstown

Maggianetti Says Police Application 'Just Routine'

Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti, who will leave his post here Jan. 12, filed an application Tuesday with the Youngstown Civil Service Commission to return to that city's police force, where he served 20 years before taking the East Liverpool job.

The director commented today, however, that he filed the application "only as a matter of routine" in case he decides to return to the Youngstown force. He resigned his post as a lieutenant in the Youngstown department to accept appointment as director in January.

Maggianetti commented that the fact he filed the application does not mean necessarily that he will return to the police force. He commented that several legal points may have to be cleared up if he does return.

The director's unexpected resignation from his $9,000-a-year job was read to Council Monday night by Mayor Fred P. Lawrence. The director commented yesterday that no pressure was put on him to leave and added that his action was prompted by the fact the city expects to lay off about 23 employes Dec. 31 for lack of funds.

Youngstown sources said if Maggianetti decides to return to the Youngstown force he will have to begin as a patrolman.

Area Schools Will Dismiss For Holidays

Most Tri-State District schools will begin their annual Christmas-New Year's holiday Friday. All will resume Jan. 5.

Students in East Liverpool public and parochial schools and public schools in Midland start their vacation at the close of classes Friday.

The holiday for students in the Midland parochial school and for those attending Western Beaver County and South Side Joint Schools will not begin until the end of classes on Tuesday.

Wellsville public schools and the Immaculate Conception Parochial School will be dismissed Friday. Public schools will let out at 2:30 p. m., about an hour early.

Beaver Local and Southern Local schools, along with other rural schools in the county system, will dismiss Friday afternoon.

The music department of Beaver Local will present a special Christmas program Friday afternoon. The Salineville High School Sophomore Class will sponsor a special assembly at the high school Friday.

Hancock County schools, including those at Newell, Chester, Pughtown and New Cumberland, will close Friday.

Seek State Survey

Fairfield Delegates Show Split Over School Merger

A request for a redistricting survey for the Columbiana County school system, made at a meeting of the county Board of Education Tuesday night, revealed a continuation of a split among Fairfield - Waterford residents over their recently merged district.

A delegation of three from the northern district asked for a general survey of the redistricting problem in the county, but were advised by the board three requests made by the county have been turned down by the state in the past two years—due chiefly to lack of funds.

Don Rupert of the Fairfield-Waterford area said residents of the recently consolidated district remain split over the feasibility of the merger. He said perhaps 25 per cent would still prefer to send high school pupils to East Palestine, Columbiana or Leetonia instead of maintaining a high school.

Rupert pointed out a proposed bond issue for a new high school was rejected in the Nov. 4 election.

Also attending the meeting were Ray Keslar and Kenneth Bell, Fairfield-Waterford residents. Bell recently led a petition move to merge parts of the district with Columbiana School District.

County Supt. James McBride reported the county board had asked the state for a redistricting survey in May and June of 1957 and in May of this year. It was reported the state lacked funds.

The delegation last night suggested all schools in the county help finance such a survey which would cost between $5,000 and $12,000. Such a move was studied earlier, they were advised.

There was also a discussion on the minimum number of pupils required to form a high school in a newly consolidated district, and Atty. Don Elliott, board member, said the state board did not hold closely to any set minimum.

Atty. Elliott also pointed out a unique complexity of the school redistricting problems of Columbiana County. He said most of the larger communities of the county lie at the outer edges, a geographic characteristic generally unlike that of most counties where the large communities are in the center.

Atty. Elliott also reported on the status of the Southern Local District, recently consolidated from the former Salineville, Yellow Creek and Wayne Districts.

A petition from the Hillcrest area of the former Yellow Creek district to merge with Wellsville has been declared valid, and a

The first potential office-seekers for the May 5 primaries in cities and villages have applied for petitions with which they will seek ballot places, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, said today.

The primaries will be held in the county's four cities — East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine and Salem — and in the four major villages, Columbiana, Leetonia, Lisbon and Salineville.

The filing deadline is Feb. 4 at 4 p. m. O'Hanlon said requests for party declarations of candidacy have been received from office - seekers in East Liverpool, Columbiana, Lisbon, Wellsville and several other communities.

Independents who wish to run in the November 1959 general election also must file by Feb. 4, O'Hanlon said. Their petitions are the so - called 7 per cent type which must carry signatures representing at least 7 per cent of the vote cast for governor in the sub - division in the last general election.

The first potential office-seekers for the May 5 primaries in cities and villages have applied for petitions with which they will seek ballot places, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, said today.

The primaries will be held in the county's four cities — East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine and Salem — and in the four major villages, Columbiana, Leetonia, Lisbon and Salineville.

The filing deadline is Feb. 4 at 4 p. m. O'Hanlon said requests for party declarations of candidacy have been received from office-seekers in East Liverpool, Columbiana, Lisbon, Wellsville and several other communities.

Independents who wish to run in the November 1959 general election also must file by Feb. 4, O'Hanlon said. Their petitions are the so-called 7 per cent type which must carry signatures representing at least 7 per cent of the vote cast for governor in the sub-division in the last general election.

The deadline for filing for offices in townships, school districts and five smaller villages does not fall

Judge Grants Man's Appeal For Jail Term

A man facing Judge George L. Brokaw on an intoxication charge today argued successfully for a term in County Jail, although he had to persuade the court not to give him the usual $10 fine.

Raymond Franklin of East Liverpool told Judge Brokaw he has no home and no job and he feels a stretch in the county jail would "help me get off the booze."

When Franklin pleaded guilty, the court prepared to sentence him to the usual $10 fine.

"Why not give me two or three months?" Franklin argued. "That's what the judge in Cleveland does. I'm out of work and I have no place to stay and that would get me off the booze."

The judge asked how Franklin managed to get drunk repeatedly if he had no job.

"Those drinks are bought for me by people I used to work with in the pottery," Franklin said.

"Well, they should be in here with you," the judge commented.

Judge Brokaw indicated again he would fine Franklin $10, holding off on a County Jail sentence until his next offense.

"Why not this time?" Franklin said. "I've been getting into the city jail every week and I'm about to starve to death."

Relenting, the judge said: "With your permission, I'll change this to a violation under state law and fine you $50 and costs." Receiving credit of $3 a day, Franklin will be behind bars about 20 days to "lay out" the fine and $6 costs.

Files Form At Youngstown

Maggianetti Says Police Application 'Just Routine'

Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti, who will leave his post here Jan. 12, filed an application Tuesday with the Youngstown Civil Service Commission to return to that city's police force, where he served 20 years before taking the East Liverpool job.

The director commented today, however, that he filed the application "only as a matter of routine" in case he decides to return to the Youngstown force. He resigned his post as a lieutenant in the Youngstown department to accept appointment as director in January.

Maggianetti commented that the fact he filed the application does not mean necessarily that he will return to the police force. He commented that several legal points may have to be cleared up if he does return.

The director's unexpected resignation from his $9,000-a-year job was read to Council Monday night by Mayor Fred P. Lawrence. The director commented yesterday that no pressure was put on him to leave and added that his action was prompted by the fact the city expects to lay off about 23 employes Dec. 31 for lack of funds.

Youngstown sources said if Maggianetti decides to return to the Youngstown force he will have to begin as a patrolman.

Low-Budget Mob Scene In Baghdad

"Come home, Rountree!"

There is no reason for a high official of the U.S. State Department to lend his presence to a stunt to give Communists a low-budget mob scene in Baghdad for their next propaganda film about humiliating the United States.

There is no more reason for it than there was for a vice president of the United States to lend his official position to a stunt in South America to demonstrate that mobs of young thugs could run amuck against the police whenever they felt like it.

Or to get down to cases, there is no more reason for it than there is for Secretary of State Dulles to fly hither and yon the world over, in sickness and in health, in hope and despair, trying to sell the idea of peace to people who aren't buying peace at any price as long as there's a chance to jack up the price by threatening war.

It is the consensus among everybody who comes home after traveling abroad that the United States is taking its lumps.

Not only is it disliked, which would put it on an even footing with the Soviet Union. But the United States is being laughed at because it has lost the simple art of dignity in international relations. Its emissaries of good will give the impression they are selling door-to-door.

What this country needs for a change is a good five-month rest, now that it has given up hope of getting a good 5-cent cigar.

Let it be known among the international set that John Foster Dulles, Richard M. Nixon and all the others will be receiving at home, instead of peregrinating for the benefit of Commies looking for mob scenes to take pictures of for the unwashed hordes they expect will help them crush the United States some day.

Just for a change, let the jeerers and the spitters find their own victims—and let Communist cameramen hire the actors for mob scenes that prove the United States is on the wane.

Secretary Dulles obviously needs a rest anyway. Once the word gets around that this government isn't going to be selling door-to-door, some of the dissatisfied customers may suddenly want to beat a path to Washington, where the local police can keep thugs and hoodlums out of jeering and spitting range.

It Costs Money To Lose, Too

The financial arrangements for covering the cost of the losing campaign to ban compulsory unionism in Ohio were on a large scale and considerably out of the ordinary.

But now that the pertinent facts have been related to Secretary of State Brown, it is well for Ohioans to remember two things about the campaign to ban compulsory unionism — the right-to-work issue.

It costs money to lose these things, too. The side that doesn't win works just as hard in the hope of winning as the side that brings home the bacon.

The Committee for Proposal No. 2 Inc. has filed expenses of $762,543, with individual contributions of only $72,923. The rest was covered by Ohio Chamber of Commerce and Ohio Manufacturers Assn. According to a report filed with the secretary of state, the two organizations committed a large part of their reserves to cover campaign costs when it became evident the showdown was in danger of being lost for lack of ready cash.

As it turned out, they might as well have defaulted.

But if it costs money to lose one of these things, it costs money to win, too.

The rub is that no one ever will know just how much the winning side put on the line.

Ohio and California were the battlefields in a do-or-die effort to save the union shop. If the battle could be won in these two states, it would not be worth carrying into any other industrial states.

By the same token, if compulsory unionism could be banned in Ohio and California, it probably could be banned in all other industrial states.

The two sides were not fighting over peanuts.

If it cost better than three-quarters of a million to lose on Issue No. 2, it cost that much or more to win — much more, in all probability.

But by hammering on how much it cost to lose, the winners may be able to leave the permanent impression that they carried the day with nothing more tangible than enthusiasm.

The Salvation Army Needs You

The Salvation Army kettles haven't been boiling as well as hoped.

Those in charge of the campaign here to raise $6,000 for the needy today were forced to renew their appeal in the lagging fund drive.

The Army's traditional kettles hold a message of hope for many. And if it were not for hope, the heart would break, an ancient proverb reminds use.

For most, Christmas is a season of gaiety, of goodwill, of merriment and joy, of thankfulness, of reunion, of light and glitter, of anticipation and fulfillment, of peace; but it is a time, too, of heartbreak.

There is the heartbreak of parents who know they have no way of filling their children's Christmas stockings, not of providing that especially-longed-for toy or article of clothing, or the turkey, which marks America's Christmas feast.

There is the heatrbreak of the aged, the lonely and the sick, whose memories of happier times, intensify their seclusion.

The message of the Salvation Army Christmas kettles is one of hope — hope that the joy and spirit of Christmas may be spread to all — to those without funds, to the homeless, to the sick, the aged and the lonely, and most of all to the children, so that their future holds hope, not heartbreak.

When you drop a contribution into the Christmas kettle, know that it will ease heartbreak, foster hope and make Christmas a holiday to be remembered and not a "day to be endured" in solitude, in despair, and in painful recollection.

'Meanest Thief'

It's the "meanest thief" season again and already in line for the questionable honor is the person who cut down a prize evergreen in the yard of a local resident and hauled it away—apparently for use at Christmas.

Other tree-choppers probably will be added to the list before Dec. 25. Also in the running will be those who snatch holiday lights.

Christmas is for the needy as well as the more fortunate, but the stealing of trees and lights is not the way to make it a merry one regardless of your status.

This is a time of peace on earth, good will toward men, but it's difficult to forgive when the "meanest thief" is on the prowl at Christmastime.

The Once Over

The guided missile, intercontinental rocket and spaceship influence envelopes Christmas gifts for Junior. The Cape Canaveral mood will reign at foot of tree. Pop and Mon will have it rigged amid the "misguidedmissiles," and home repairs will extend well into the new year. Santa indeed looks supersonic.

Clement Moore, possibly seeking U.N. protection, would put his famous poem this way:

'Twas the morn after Christmas and all through the shack,
The kiddies were staging a missile attack;
Mama in her helmet and I in one, too,
Were in our bomb-shelter, as plaster fell through;
(The home was in such a distressing condition
I knew Cape Canaveral had opposition.)

High over the lawn there arose a great clatter—
(I didn't look out; I knew what was the matter);
I knew that St. Nicholas was in full flight
With his reindeer the victims of panic and fright.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they went—
(They knew how the kids' missile Christmas was spent.)—
"If you want to live long, make a streak through the sky,"
Santa cried to his deer with a groan and a sigh.
"Now, Dasher! Now, Dancer! Now, Prancer and Vixen!
The children their space rocket fuels are now mixin'...
On, Comet! On, Cupid! Full speed and away!
If the kiddies don't get you, their poor parents may."

By H. I. Phillips

His eyes they were bloodshot, his face wasn't gleaming,
As missiles from rooftops below him came streaming;
Old Santa looked dismal, his future black
(He feared from all parents a counter-attack);
A facial expression devoid of all bliss
Implied he regretted a Christmas like this,
And I heard him exclaim as he flew far from sight
"Merry Christmas to all, but to rockets good night!"

Q. WHO WERE THE authors of "Silent Night?" Jerry K.

A. The generally accepted story is that Frank Gruber, an organist in a small Austrian village did the music and Father Josef Mohr the words. Mice had damaged the church organ. Gruber composed the song to be played Christmas on a guitar. He asked Father Mohr to write the words. The year was 1851.

"Tim" Moore, the Kingfish of Amos and Andy, who died the other day, was an actor of rare talent, as are most of the cast in the televised show. You will find few things in show business with better characterizations. Incidentally Amos and Andy as an airwave show has lived longer than any show still going. Gosden and Correl began it over 30 years ago on radio. With TV they put in colored actors of high merit, and the performance on the screen has deserved much more attention than critics have chosen to give them.

He helps the wife
Send Christmas "codds."

The tropical vacation resorts got a bad break last year, but this winter must make them really believe there is a Santa Claus.

Hoffa Faces Cleanup Ultimatum

By Victor Riesel

Jim Hoffa, high cockelorum of the Teamsters, will be given three or four months in which to clean up his union or positively face removal by the federal courts, this column has learned from the most authoritative judicial circles.

Victor Riesel

Should that happen, the federal bench will dramatically use a score of legal precedents and appoint several trustees to run the sprawling 37-million-dollar transportation union.

Unless such a decision is voided by the Supreme Court, the trustees could govern the union for as long as five years, it was said. These trustees would, in turn, appoint auditors, investigators and regional trustees to revamp and monitor most of the union's 900 locals as well as the huge marble national headquarters itself.

Thus, long after even the McClellan committee folds up its witness chair and recedes into history, the government will be riding herd on the Teamsters — if there is no clean up.

THIS DRAMATIC clash between the courts and the cocky Jim Hoffa might not have come about had he not convinced a weary Washington officialdom that he was giving the rest of the world just 24 hours to get out. Hoffa seems to have been pushing for the showdown. He has it now.

Strangely, this may not have been his intention at all. He may simply have hoisted himself on his own well-placed petards — well-placed by a public relations brain-trust which would make Madison Ave's gray-flannel hucksters turn green with envy.

It is accurate to report that Hoffa's public relations technique is, and has been, to get himself denounced as a "labor boss" reaching beyond the horizons for power with the regularity of a Canaveral rocket thrust.

This is not as mad as it sounds. Hoffa and his colleagues have agreed that it is far better for him to be denounced as a power-hungry militant union chief than as the leader of a union invaded by the toughest, most corrupt underworld forces.

THUS, IN LESS than a year, the top Teamster has been criticized for building an empire through alliances with a score of other unions. He has been excoriated for seeking to control all transport on land, on sea and in the air.

He has been accused of throwing his weight around in foreign strikes and of helping to tie up London's buses and docks. And now even presidential advisers publicly blister him for seeking to control, through the Teamsters union, the police and firemen of the land.

Look closely at this latest move by Hoffa. He has hit the front pages and the radio and TV networks by simply announcing a drive to unionize civil servants. He and his executive board know they have no place to go on this one.

Back in 1956, Dave Beck launched a similar "drive" and talked of throwing every penny of the union's 40 million dollars into the campaign. It froze. Everybody forgot.

Where could such a drive go? There are, for example, some 100,000 firemen in the country. Of these, 90,000 are members of the 40-year-old AFL-CIO International Assn. of Fire Fighters, led by a retired St. Louis fire captain, Bill Buck.

HE ISN'T even disturbed by the announcement. The morning Hoffa's story broke, Bill Buck paid more attention to Archie Moore's ring victory than Hoffa's pronouncement.

The 10,000 non-union firemen are in departments with less than seven men each and are actually too widespread to be unionized.

As for the nation's 350,000 police, the Supreme Court has ruled that local laws prohibiting their unionization are valid.

Leroy Wilke, head of the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, tells me that only in Wisconsin do the state police have a union. There also are local unions in some 44 communities which have not challenged their existence. That's the score, though the AFL-CIO has been trying for years.

The new Teamster announcement is a publicity gimmick. The drive will never really get off the ground. But through the maneuver Hoffa shows great daring — and gives the impression that he is being probed because he is the great defender of the proletariat.

It won't help. The courts want him to clean up the mess the McClellan committee has uncovered. And in three to four months.

Our American Neighbors?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Democrats are moving in to push the Eisenhower administration toward a broadened and perhaps more generous policy in dealing with Latin America, or to break the whole subject wide open for public discussion.

The shocking treatment given Vice President Richard M. Nixon last spring on his Latin-American good will trip forced this country into painful realization that this country's relations with its southern neighbors are far from happy.

The problem is complex. Mainly, so far, the administration has been talking of studying the problem.

This week Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, one of the leading possibilities for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, made a speech in Puerto Rico. In it, he offered a 10-point program for strengthening U. S.-Latin-American relations. While not giving Latin America a clean bill of health, he was critical of this country's performance.

That speech cannot help but win him friends in Central and South America. It can't do him any harm either among Latin Americans in this country if he should run for president.

Another Democrat, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, also in the running for his party's presidential nomination, indicated last week he plans a major speech on Latin America.

Sen. George Smathers, a Florida Democrat who is known as a friend of Latin America, has said he expects to introduce in the new Congress a bill to create the post of undersecretary of state for hemisphere affairs.

On top of this, a Senate subcommittee — headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat —was given the task of looking into U. S.-Latin-American relations. It now is making a study and may hold hearings early next year.

The bipartisanship of Democrats and Republicans has been pretty sturdy in areas of the world where communism is a menace, especially where it is or might become a military menace.

There's no present military danger from communism in Latin America. But there is the possibility of future danger, and maybe not too far off, if Communists gain a dominant role in one or more Latin - American countries.

The Democrats may feel less inclined to go along with the Eisenhower administration on problems involving Latin America than on those affecting Europe, Asia or Africa.

Federal Bombing Law

By David Lawrence

Suspicion Of Reds Continues To Grow

When the bombing of a Jewish church in Atlanta occurred several weeks ago, this correspondent suggested that the episode had the earmarks of Communist underground operations. The suggestion was met with cynicism by some of those who preferred rather to indict the people of the South or to blame the occurrence in part on those persons who exercise their constitutional right in America to speak or write on the issue of integration in the public schools.

David Lawrence

There were others like the mayor of Atlanta, however, who pointed out that the bombing seemed to be part of an interstate conspiracy—it wasn't just the work of hoodlums or crackpots in any one locality. Anything interstate is big enough, of course, to be of foreign origin as well.

Now, after considerable investigation, including a visit to the South, Sen.-Elect Kenneth B. Keating, (R-NY), points the finger of suspicion toward the Communists. Here is a United Press-International dispatch of last Saturday from Schenectady, N. Y.:

Sen.-Elect Kenneth B. Keating said here last night that there was a 'strong suspicion' the bombings of schools, homes and places of worship in the South may have been fomented by Communists. . . nists. . . .

" 'Moscow made certain that the news of Little Rock and the school bombings reached every corner of the globe,' Keating said. 'There is even a strong suspicion among many informed people that the Communists themselves may be fomenting these horrible bombings.' "

At first it appeared that the bombings and threats were directed solely at Jewish places of worship but there have been numerous incidents involving both Protestant and Catholic churches and their schools.

PHONY THREATS have become numerous, and, while these could be the work of crackpots affected by suggestion, it is far more likely that the Communist underground, which has agents in every state of the Union, would take advantage of the opportunity to achieve headlines.

Anything that portrays America as torn constantly by class feeling is grist for the Communist mill.

The Communists, moreover, do aid and abet anti-Semitic organizations on every continent. They help to finance Fascist units in Europe which are active in spreading hate literature.

They have access to student bodies in many universities throughout the world, especially in Mexico and Latin America generally.

They have lately gotten stronger in Canada, where it will be recalled that a few years ago Igor Gouzenko, an attache of the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa, exposed a Canadian-American spy ring of the Communists.

The distribution of "Hate America" literature has recently increased in Canada.

Fascist units, secretly financed, are a favorite instrument of the Communist apparatus because, on the surface, they seem far from sympathetic with Communism.

Sen.-Elect Keating, in a television interview on Sunday, indicated that some Fascist organizations in America may be implicated in and certainly are exploiting the bombings.

When the tragedy in Arkansas occurred last year, the Communists promptly exploited it on the propaganda waves.

As federal troops moved into Little Rock, the Communists boasted over their radio stations throughout the world that the United States couldn't keep the peace by normal means and had to resort to military force.

WHILE THERE are doubtless amateurs in the bombing game, the techniques are usually handled by professionals.

The Communists have many experienced units engaged in bombing enterprises inside Middle Eastern countries and their activities emerge wherever the Communist and anti-Communist forces are lined up in bitter hostility to one another.

More than a billion dollars are spent annually by the Kremlin in subversive activities in at least 72 countries of the world.

Sen.-Elect Keating is right in urging that these bombings or threats of bombing inside the United States be covered by federal criminal laws.

In a sense, they are usually interstate in their character anyway, but, if the federal law specified such crimes, it would enable the FBI to move in more rapidly and to work more closely with local authorities in warding off such happenings.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC), and Sen. Russell (D-Ga), have both spoken publicly in favor of such legislation, which ought to be an indication in itself that the South stands with other law-abiding people in a determination to ferret out and punish the leaders in the bomb plots and their henchmen.

The problems growing out of the presence of a powerful Communist underground inside America will never be solved till many who are influential in the press and in the pulpit stop pooh-poohing it as non-existent.

Also, if the Fifth Amendment were amended so that, during a "cold-war," Americans could be required to tell of their Communist associations, the FBI would be helped immeasurably.

It is not enough for witnesses merely to deny personal complicity. If they would wholeheartedly assist the authorities, it would be of incalculable aid in running down the interstate conspiracies and their masterminds operating here or in neighboring countries through funds furnished by the Moscow government.

Letters To The Editor

I follow your editorials with interest. Usually I agree with them.

However, I must heartily disagree with your editorial "No Standard Uniform For Teachers" (Friday Dec. 12). I am not against Roman Catholics teaching in public schools, but I am against them wearing their religious garb while teaching.

You state that "Ohio does not prescribe what its teachers shall and shall not wear." I take it that a Red Russian army officer could teach in an Ohio public school in his uniform. We would not be teaching communism by so doing. But he would be saying, in effect, "I am a communist; I believe in communism; I want you to believe it." Catholic nuns teaching in public schools may not give oral instruction in religion, but there is a sayng that "actions speak louder than words."

I wonder whether children in public schools call their garbed nuns teachers miss or sister.

All the talk about education being a local responsibility may sound good. But local responsibility must not become an excuse for destroying a vital principle of our state and federal constitutions—the separation of church and state. Garbed nuns in public schools definitely violate this principle. We do not want this country to become a Spain or a Colombia.

If Ohio has no law to prescribe what its teachers may and may not wear in the classroom, it had better get one.

With respect to Saturday's letter to the editor in which a reader complained about service rendered by our local merchants.

I agree that may be true in a few cases, but it is not an overall picture.

We have many reputable merchants in this area who render a fine service to their customers. One of whom, if I may single out an example, is the Bloor Pharmacy. I have patronized all of their stores and have received the best of service and courteous treatment.

If there is anyone who should receive a compliment, I believe that the owners and employes of Bloor's Pharmacy should.

The Irrawaddy

Out of the world's greatest spawning ground of rivers flows the Irrawaddy, Burma's age - old expressway.

The river rises in the snow-locked highlands of central Asia near the Brahmaputra, Salween, Mekong and Yangtze. The dark waters of those mighty streams roar southward in parallel canyons only a few dozen miles apart before fanning out toward distant seas.

The Irrawaddy is Kipling's glamorous "Road to Mandalay." Its name suggests temple bells, the pale-gold spires of pagodas, the dark wet green of jungles. Burma's old capitals bask on its banks.

Commercially, however, the Irrawaddy is a north-south highway of supreme importance. It drains some 158,000 square miles. The burnished waters have long borne flotillas of river boats and rafts of rich-red teak. The huge delta, with nine yawning mouths, forms one of the world's foremost rice graineries.

Nowadays the old Irrawaddy doesn't look quite the same. In September 1958 the first test oil well was drilled in the delta. Upstream at Chauk, oil derricks rise from the riverside like filigree.

Low-Budget Mob Scene In Baghdad

That "Go home, Rountree!" jeer which greeted the arrival of Assistant Secretary of State William Rountree in Baghdad finds its response in 170 million U.S. hearts.

"Come home, Rountree!"

There is no reason for a high official of the U.S. State Department to lend his presence to a stunt to give Communists a low-budget mob scene in Baghdad for their next propaganda film about humiliating the United States.

There is no more reason for it than there was for a vice president of the United States to lend his official position to a stunt in South America to demonstrate that mobs of young thugs could run amuck against the police whenever they felt like it.

Or to get down to cases, there is no more reason for it than there is for Secretary of State Dulles to fly hither and yon the world over, in sickness and in health, in hope and despair, trying to sell the idea of peace to people who aren't buying peace at any price as long as there's a chance to jack up the price by threatening war.

It is the consensus among everybody who comes home after traveling abroad that the United States is taking its lumps.

Not only is it disliked, which would put it on an even footing with the Soviet Union. But the United States is being laughed at because it has lost the simple art of dignity in international relations. Its emissaries of good will give the impression they are selling door-to-door.

What this country needs for a change is a good five-month rest, now that it has given up hope of getting a good 5-cent cigar.

Let it be known among the international set that John Foster Dulles, Richard M. Nixon and all the others will be receiving at home, instead of peregrinating for the benefit of Commies looking for mob scenes to take pictures of for the unwashed hordes they expect will help them crush the United States some day.

Just for a change, let the jeerers and the spitters find their own victims—and let Communist cameramen hire the actors for mob scenes that prove the United States is on the wane.

Secretary Dulles obviously needs a rest anyway. Once the word gets around that this government isn't going to be selling door-to-door, some of the dissatisfied customers may suddenly want to beat a path to Washington, where the local police can keep thugs and hoodlums out of jeering and spitting range.

It Costs Money To Lose, Too

The financial arrangements for covering the cost of the losing campaign to ban compulsory unionism in Ohio were on a large scale and considerably out of the ordinary.

But now that the pertinent facts have been related to Secretary of State Brown, it is well for Ohioans to remember two things about the campaign to ban compulsory unionism — the right-to-work issue.

It costs money to lose these things, too. The side that doesn't win works just as hard in the hope of winning as the side that brings home the bacon.

The Committee for Proposal No. 2 Inc. has filed expenses of $762,543, with individual contributions of only $72,923. The rest was covered by Ohio Chamber of Commerce and Ohio Manufacturers Assn. According to a report filed with the secretary of state, the two organizations committed a large part of their reserves to cover campaign costs when it became evident the showdown was in danger of being lost for lack of ready cash.

As it turned out, they might as well have defaulted.

But if it costs money to lose one of these things, it costs money to win, too.

The rub is that no one ever will know just how much the winning side put on the line.

Ohio and California were the battlefields in a do-or-die effort to save the union shop. If the battle could be won in these two states, it would not be worth carrying into any other industrial states.

By the same token, if compulsory unionism could be banned in Ohio and California, it probably could be banned in all other industrial states.

The two sides were not fighting over peanuts.

If it cost better than three-quarters of a million to lose on Issue No. 2, it cost that much or more to win — much more, in all probability.

But by hammering on how much it cost to lose, the winners may be able to leave the permanent impression that they carried the day with nothing more tangible than enthusiasm.

The Salvation Army Needs You

The Salvation Army kettles haven't been boiling as well as hoped.

Those in charge of the campaign here to raise $6,000 for the needy today were forced to renew their appeal in the lagging fund drive.

The Army's traditional kettles hold a message of hope for many. And if it were not for hope, the heart would break, an ancient proverb reminds use.

For most, Christmas is a season of gaiety, of goodwill, of merriment and joy, of thankfulness, of reunion, of light and glitter, of anticipation and fulfillment, of peace; but it is a time, too, of heartbreak.

There is the heartbreak of parents who know they have no way of filling their children's Christmas stockings, not of providing that especially-longed-for toy or article of clothing, or the turkey, which marks America's Christmas feast.

There is the heatrbreak of the aged, the lonely and the sick, whose memories of happier times, intensify their seclusion.

The message of the Salvation Army Christmas kettles is one of hope — hope that the joy and spirit of Christmas may be spread to all — to those without funds, to the homeless, to the sick, the aged and the lonely, and most of all to the children, so that their future holds hope, not heartbreak.

When you drop a contribution into the Christmas kettle, know that it will ease heartbreak, foster hope and make Christmas a holiday to be remembered and not a "day to be endured" in solitude, in despair, and in painful recollection.

'Meanest Thief'

It's the "meanest thief" season again and already in line for the questionable honor is the person who cut down a prize evergreen in the yard of a local resident and hauled it away—apparently for use at Christmas.

Other tree-choppers probably will be added to the list before Dec. 25. Also in the running will be those who snatch holiday lights.

Christmas is for the needy as well as the more fortunate, but the stealing of trees and lights is not the way to make it a merry one regardless of your status.

This is a time of peace on earth, good will toward men, but it's difficult to forgive when the "meanest thief" is on the prowl at Christmastime.

The Once Over

The guided missile, intercontinental rocket and spaceship influence envelopes Christmas gifts for Junior. The Cape Canaveral mood will reign at foot of tree. Pop and Mon will have it rigged amid the "misguidedmissiles," and home repairs will extend well into the new year. Santa indeed looks supersonic.

Clement Moore, possibly seeking U.N. protection, would put his famous poem this way:

'Twas the morn after Christmas and all through the shack,
The kiddies were staging a missile attack;
Mama in her helmet and I in one, too,
Were in our bomb-shelter, as plaster fell through;
(The home was in such a distressing condition
I knew Cape Canaveral had opposition.)

High over the lawn there arose a great clatter—
(I didn't look out; I knew what was the matter);
I knew that St. Nicholas was in full flight
With his reindeer the victims of panic and fright.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they went—
(They knew how the kids' missile Christmas was spent.)—
"If you want to live long, make a streak through the sky,"
Santa cried to his deer with a groan and a sigh.
"Now, Dasher! Now, Dancer! Now, Prancer and Vixen!
The children their space rocket fuels are now mixin'. . .
On, Comet! On, Cupid! Full speed and away!
If the kiddies don't get you, their poor parents may."

By H. I. Phillips

His eyes they were bloodshot, his face wasn't gleaming,
As missiles from rooftops below him came streaming;
Old Santa looked dismal, his future black
(He feared from all parents a counter-attack);
A facial expression devoid of all bliss
Implied he regretted a Christmas like this,
And I heard him exclaim as he flew far from sight
"Merry Christmas to all, but to rockets good night!"

Q. WHO WERE THE authors of "Silent Night?" Jerry K.

A. The generally accepted story is that Frank Gruber, an organist in a small Austrian village did the music and Father Josef Mohr the words. Mice had damaged the church organ. Gruber composed the song to be played Christmas on a guitar. He asked Father Mohr to write the words. The year was 1851.

"Tim" Moore, the Kingfish of Amos and Andy, who died the other day, was an actor of rare talent, as are most of the cast in the televised show. You will find few things in show business with better characterizations. Incidentally Amos and Andy as an airwave show has lived longer than any show still going. Gosden and Correl began it over 30 years ago on radio. With TV they put in colored actors of high merit, and the performance on the screen has deserved much more attention than critics have chosen to give them.

Hoffa Faces Cleanup Ultimatum

By Victor Riesel

Jim Hoffa, high cockelorum of the Teamsters, will be given three or four months in which to clean up his union or positively face removal by the federal courts, this column has learned from the most authoritative judicial circles.

Victor Riesel

Should that happen, the federal bench will dramatically use a score of legal precedents and appoint several trustees to run the sprawling 37-million-dollar transportation union.

Unless such a decision is voided by the Supreme Court, the trustees could govern the union for as long as five years, it was said. These trustees would, in turn, appoint auditors, investigators and regional trustees to revamp and monitor most of the union's 900 locals as well as the huge marble national headquarters itself.

Thus, long after even the McClellan committee folds up its witness chair and recedes into history, the government will be riding herd on the Teamsters — if there is no clean up.

THIS DRAMATIC clash between the courts and the cocky Jim Hoffa might not have come about had he not convinced a weary Washington officialdom that he was giving the rest of the world just 24 hours to get out. Hoffa seems to have been pushing for the showdown. He has it now.

Strangely, this may not have been his intention at all. He may simply have hoisted himself on his own well-placed petards — well-placed by a public relations braintrust which would make Madison Ave's gray-flannel hucksters turn green with envy.

It is accurate to report that Hoffa's public relations technique is, and has been, to get himself denounced as a "labor boss" reaching beyond the horizons for power with the regularity of a Canaveral rocket thrust.

This is not as mad as it sounds. Hoffa and his colleagues have agreed that it is far better for him to be denounced as a power-hungry militant union chief than as the leader of a union invaded by the toughest, most corrupt underworld forces.

THUS, IN LESS than a year, the top Teamster has been criticized for building an empire through alliances with a score of other unions. He has been excoriated for seeking to control all transport on land, on sea and in the air.

He has been accused of throwing his weight around in foreign strikes and of helping to tie up London's buses and docks. And now even presidential advisers publicly blister him for seeking to control, through the Teamsters union, the police and firemen of the land.

Look closely at this latest move by Hoffa. He has hit the front pages and the radio and TV networks by simply announcing a drive to unionize civil servants. He and his executive board know they have no place to go on this one.

Back in 1956, Dave Beck launched a similar "drive" and talked of throwing every penny of the union's 40 million dollars into the campaign. It froze. Everybody forgot.

Where could such a drive go? There are, for example, some 100,000 firemen in the country. Of these, 90,000 are members of the 40-year-old AFL-CIO International Assn. of Fire Fighters, led by a retired St. Louis fire captain, Bill Buck.

HE ISN'T even disturbed by the announcement. The morning Hoffa's story broke, Bill Fuck paid more attention to Archie Moore's ring victory than Hoffa's pronouncement.

The 10,000 non-union firemen are in departments with less than seven men each and are actually too widespread to be unionized.

As for the nation's 350,000 police, the Supreme Court has ruled that local laws prohibiting their unionization are valid.

Leroy Wilke, head of the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, tells me that only in Wisconsin do the state police have a union. There also are local unions in some 44 communities which have not challenged their existence. That's the score, though the AFL-CIO has been trying for years.

The new Teamster announcement is a publicity gimmick. The drive will never really get off the ground. But through the maneuver Hoffa shows great daring — and gives the impression that he is being probed because he is the great defender of the proletariat.

It won't help. The courts want him to clean up the mess the McClellan committee has uncovered. And in three to four months.

Our American Neighbors?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Democrats are moving in to push the Eisenhower administration toward a broadened and perhaps more generous policy in dealing with Latin America, or to break the whole subject wide open for public discussion.

The shocking treatment given Vice President Richard M. Nixon last spring on his Latin-American good will trip forced this country into painful realization that this country's relations with its southern neighbors are far from happy.

The problem is complex. Mainly, so far, the administration has been talking of studying the problem.

This week Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, one of the leading possibilities for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, made a speech in Puerto Rico. In it, he offered a 10-point program for strengthening U. S.-Latin-American relations. While not giving Latin America a clean bill of health, he was critical of this country's performance.

That speech cannot help but win him friends in Central and South America. It can't do him any harm either among Latin Americans in this country if he should run for president.

Another Democrat, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, also in the running for his party's presidential nomination, indicated last week he plans a major speech on Latin America.

Sen. George Smathers, a Florida Democrat who is known as a friend of Latin America, has said he expects to introduce in the new Congress a bill to create the post of undersecretary of state for hemisphere affairs.

On top of this, a Senate subcommittee — headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat —was given the task of looking into U. S.-Latin-American relations. It now is making a study and may hold hearings early next year.

The bipartisanship of Democrats and Republicans has been pretty sturdy in areas of the world where communism is a menace, especially where it is or might become a military menace.

There's no present military danger from communism in Latin America. But there is the possibility of future danger, and maybe not too far off, if Communists gain a dominant role in one or more Latin - American countries.

The Democrats may feel less inclined to go along with the Eisenhower administration on problems involving Latin America than on those affecting Europe, Asia or Africa.

When Nixon returned from Latin America last May he made a few public proposals—mostly in generalities—for bettering this country's relations with its southern neighbors. And he conferred privately on the matter with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. But Nixon has never come up with any detailed proposals in public.

All the talk about education being a local responsibility may sound good. But local responsibility must not become an excuse for destroying a vital principle of our state and federal constitutions—the separation of church and state. Garbed nuns in public schools definitely violate this principle. We do not want this country to become a Spain or a Colombia.

If Ohio has no law to prescribe what its teachers may and may not wear in the classroom, it had better get one.

With respect to Saturday's letter to the editor in which a reader complained about service rendered by our local merchants.

I agree that may be true in a few cases, but it is not an overall picture.

We have many reputable merchants in this area who render a fine service to their customers. One of whom, if I may single out an example, is the Bloor Pharmacy. I have patronized all of their stores and have received the best of service and courteous treatment.

If there is anyone who should receive a compliment, I believe that the owners and employes of Bloor's Pharmacy should.

The Irrawaddy

Out of the world's greatest spawning ground of rivers flows the Irrawaddy, Burma's age - old expressway.

The river rises in the snow-locked highlands of central Asia near the Brahmaputra, Salween, Mekong and Yangtze. The dark waters of those mighty streams roar southward in parallel canyons only a few dozen miles apart before fanning out toward distant seas.

The Irrawaddy is Kipling's glamorous "Road to Mandalay." Its name suggests temple bells, the pale-gold spires of pagodas, the dark wet green of jungles. Burma's old capitals bask on its banks.

Commercially, however, the Irrawaddy is a north-south highway of supreme importance. It drains some 158,000 square miles. The burnished waters have long borne flotillas of river boats and rafts of rich-red teak. The huge delta, with nine yawning mouths, forms one of the world's foremost rice graineries.

Nowadays the old Irrawaddy doesn't look quite the same. In September 1958 the first test oil well was drilled in the delta. Upstream at Chauk, oil derricks rise from the riverside like filigree.

Wellsville Council Meets

Yearend Appropriations Adopted

Yearend financial matters were cleared by Wellsville City Council Tuesday night.

Council adopted legislation for expenditures not provided in the annual appropriation ordinance and two pieces of legislation to renew sewage disposal notes totaling $280,000.

The appropriation amendment provides various additional sums to the original amounts appropriated. They include:

FROM THE general fund: $150, Council, incidentals; $250, clerk of Council, incidentals; $250, auditor, furniture and fixtures; $50, auditor, incidentals; $25, floodwall, incidentals; $100, floodwall, material; $25, floodwall, motor; $150, general administration, stationery; $350, general administration, motor; $10, general administration, legal advertising; $100, police department, incidentals; $500, police, motor maintenance; $125, police, sustenance of prisoners; $680, police, new cruiser and equipment; $125, fire department, new plugs; $66, fire department, labor of flushing plugs; $500, sewer fund, for labor other than city's; $650, service fund, director; $50, service fund, stationery; $100, service fund, public employes retirement and incidentals; $5, service fund, pump station; $300, service fund, city building fuel, light and supplies; $350, Health Department, medical supplies; $550, Health Department, destroying dogs; $125, park fund, wages; $30, park fund, electric power; $60, park fund, mowing grass; $4, park fund, PERS; $50, official bonds, and $40, Civil Service, postage and stationery.

FROM THE water fund: $1,025, salaries; $100, stationery and postage; $500, filtration, maintenance; $200, motor; $3,000, wages, and $1,500, materials and supplies.

From refuse disposal fund: $250, salaries; $1,000, wages; $500, office supplies; $600, PERS; $300, motor; $50, incidentals; $500, covering dump, and $50, supplies.

From street maintenance fund: $2,100, tools and truck; $200, miscellaneous and insurance; $1,300, motor maintenance; $500, labor other than city's, and $200, traffic light equipment.

From cemetery fund: $150, motor maintenance, and $50, phone.

From cemetery endowment fund: $266.50, investments.

From sewage disposal revenue fund: $9$$, hire of technical superfund: $900, hire of technical superPERS.

FROM general fund: $4,000, transfer to refuse disposal fund, and $1,130.23, transfer to water fund.

It was pointed out Charles Sackett of Steubenville has been hired as the technical supervisor as funds were provided in the appropriation changes. He will serve Wellsville for a fee of $20 per trip. The city does not have a licensed technician for the plant when it goes into operation. Sackett serves in the same capacity for East Liverpool.

The first note to be renewed, as provided by the legislation adopted under suspension of rules, is for $80,000. The sewage disposal notes were issued in anticipation of the sale of bonds. The note is held equally by the First National Bank and the Potters Bank & Trust, both of East Liverpool.

IT WILL EXPIRE Jan. 7. The city pays 4 per cent interest rate.

The other note is for $200,000. It will expire in Feburary and is backed by the general obligation bonds voted in 1956. First National holds $160,000 on this obligation and Potters $40,000.

Raymond Knepper, the city's fiscal agent, said $75,000 in outstanding notes on the storm sewer project will be paid off in about three months when the federal government reimburses the city.

The storm sewer relocation cost an estimated $600,000.

MYRON WEIS, Council president, said he feels the interest rate paid on the notes is too high, especially when one of the notes is backed by the general obligation issue.

In other business, Council adopted a resolution accepting the amounts and rates of tax levies as approved by the Columbiana County Budget Commission. The city has 3.2 mills inside the 10-mill limitation and 3.3 mills outside.

The resignation of Frank C. Wilson as a member of Council was accepted with regret. He was elected county commissioner in November and is not allowed to hold two elective jobs. He was absent.

Council received an application from Dominick Dash of Center St., a former councilman, for the position. Two other applications were received at the meeting Dec. 2. No action was taken.

LEGISLATION prohibiting parking on the south side of Center St., between 12th and 15th Sts., was "adopted as read." Council passed the legislation on third and final reading at the last meeting but Clerk Kenneth Bell pointed out his records failed to show that they had made it official by the last move.

Councilman Robert Taggart opposed the adoption. He had opposed passage of the legislation previously.

A $25.56 claim was received from Joseph Woodburn, 2148 Michigan Ave., East Liverpool, for damage to his car. He said in a letter he hit a tree stump between 11th and 12th Sts. which he believes is on city property. It was referred to the property and claims committees.

AUDITOR EDGAR S. Davidson's report for November showed a balance of $177,701.03 while Treasurer Charles W. Stewart showed a balance of $143,933.57.

Councilman Ancel Moore, street and light chairman, reported he has received requests for reflector lights on the dead ends of 9th St. and Riverside Ave. He gave the closing prayer. Councilman Richard Brown gave the opening prayer.

A round of holiday greetings was extended by all.

Motorist Fined $15, 2 Others Forfeit $20

LISBON — One motorist was fined $15 and costs Tuesday night by Mayor John Todd for a traffic violation and two others forfeited bonds when they failed to appear for scheduled hearings.

Donald Eugene Liggitt, 18, of R. D. 4 was fined $15 and costs for failing to yield the right-of-way. He was involved in an accident.

MYRON WEIS, Council president, said he feels the interest rate paid on the notes is too high, especially when one of the notes is backed by the general obligation issue.

In other business, Council adopted a resolution accepting the amounts and rates of tax levies as approved by the Columbiana County Budget Commission. The city has 3.2 mills inside the 10-mill limitation and 3.3 mills outside.

The resignation of Frank C. Wilson as a member of Council was accepted with regret. He was elected county commissioner in November and is not allowed to hold two elective jobs. He was absent.

Council received an application from Dominick Dash of Center St., a former councilman, for the position. Two other applications were received at the meeting Dec. 2. No action was taken.

LEGISLATION prohibiting parking on the south side of Center St., between 12th and 15th Sts., was "adopted as read." Council passed the legislation on third and final reading at the last meeting but Clerk Kenneth Bell pointed out his records failed to show that they had made it official by the last move.

Councilman Robert Taggart opposed the adoption. He had opposed passage of the legislation previously.

A $25.56 claim was received from Joseph Woodburn, 2148 Michigan Ave., East Liverpool, for damage to his car. He said in a letter he hit a tree stump between 11th and 12th Sts. which he believes is on city property. It was referred to the property and claims committees.

AUDITOR EDGAR S. Davidson's report for November showed a balance of $177,701.03 while Treasurer Charles W. Stewart showed a balance of $143,933.57.

Councilman Ancel Moore, street and light chairman, reported he has received requests for reflector lights on the dead ends of 9th St. and Riverside Ave. He gave the closing prayer. Councilman Richard Brown gave the opening prayer.

A round of holiday greetings was extended by all.

Mao

impressions from Mao's retirement.

U.S. and British foreign officials took the view that Mao remained as powerful as ever. Some diplomats in Communist Poland felt that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had a hand in the maneuver—or at least welcomed it.

Mao stands as a potential rival to Khrushchev as the high apostle of world communism.

The Chinese Communist party's communique sought to set at rest reports that grumbling over the communes was a factor in Mao's decision.

The communique declared the commune program to speed up production will be carried on.

The Chinese leaders used caution in their communique to avoid creating even the slightest implication that Mao was forced out because of any errors.

The 65-year-old leader of the Chinese Communist revolution has been pictured as the all-knowing guide and counselor who makes no mistakes. Much of the tightly regimented structure of Red China has been built around this picture.

Any clouding of the picture could cause cracks in the Communist control system. This would be especially true if there were any hint the change involved controversy over the new commune system, which is smashing revered family traditions to force people into work camps.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi, in telling the diplomats of the change, admitted the Chinese people would be disturbed by the news. Chen reportedly said the decision would be announced in a way "to banish all fear and apprehension."

Indications are that this will be done by playing up the traditional Chinese reverence for the scholar. The people apparently will be told that Mao is relinquishing one post to devote more time to study and writing.

Yugoslav Communists said privately, however, that Mao had lost influence and power. Opinion was divided in the Yugoslav capital whether a more moderate or more extreme faction would succeed Mao.

State Department officials in Washington were reported convinced that no policy change was involved and that Mao still controlled Red China. But Chinese Nationalists on Formosa speculated that Mao, in trouble at home and in relations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, was slipping. The Nationalists did not expect policy changes either, however.

2 Youngsters Injured In Coasting Accidents

One child was hospitalized and another treated following coasting mishaps Tuesday. A man hurt at work and a youth injured at school were also treated at City Hospital.

Ralph Herrin, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herrin of Irondale, is in "good" condition today with a fractured left arm suffered when his sled struck a tree.

Sandy Zagula, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Zagula of Orion Ave., Chester, suffered a laceration of the right leg while sledding yesterday.

While wrestling at school, Robert Springer, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Springer of Glenmoor, suffered a hand injury.

George Hutchison, 43, of Toronto, an employe of the Ohio Edison Co., was treated for a cut of the right leg suffered on a power chain saw at work yesterday.

Lisbon High School Plans Yule Assembly

LISBON — A special Christmas assembly will be held Friday afternoon at David Anderson High School, according to George M. Nace Jr., principal.

The program will consist of Christmas music by the chorus and band under the direction of Tom Williams and Miss Betty Mitchell, and a Christmas play directed by Miss Nancy Baukneckt, drama instructor.

The program will be held from 2:10 to 3:30 and the public is invited, Nace said.

Switch Pulled By Samaritan, Motorist Says

A woman facing Judge George L. Brokaw on a traffic charge today declared the count was filed against her by a "Good Samaritan" who pushed her auto to help get it started, then claimed his car was scratched and presented her with a bill for $79.

The defense was put up by Mrs. Dorothy Gamble of Rogers R. D. 1, who pleaded not guilty to a charge filed by Lee Cain of McKee St. alleging that she operated a car with defective brakes Nov. 17, 1957, on Avondale St.

Mrs. Gamble told the court her auto stalled on that date when she left it at the curb to go into a drugstore. Cain volunteered to start the auto by pushing it with his car, said said. In the process, Cain's car was damaged—"just a tiny little scratch"—the defendant said.

Mrs. Gamble said she told Cain she would pay for the damage and asked him to get three estimates. Instead, she said, he approached her later, claiming the car was repaired and the job cost $79. She said she believed he filed the criminal charge in an effort to make her pay the repair bill.

Cain did not appear at the time the woman's testimony was taken. However, he conferred later with the judge, who gave Mrs. Gamble a suspended fine of $10 and costs.

Woman's Police Call Puzzles–It Was Wrong Office

Arthur Newton, Wellsville City Hall custodian and former policeman, thought for a while Tuesday that a new addition had been made to the city without his knowledge.

Newton answered the police telephone for Chief John Hephner, who was busy in another part of the office.

A woman said she had a complaint to make about a car parked in front of her home. The car has just one license plate and hadn't been moved for three days, she said.

Newton asked her the address so a patrolman could investigate. When she told him, Newton was puzzled.

He had never heard of the street although he knows the town like the "palm of his hand." He served for years as a city policeman and later as dog warden and thought he knew all streets and alleys in town.

He asked for the address again and then asked where it was located. The woman said rather surprisedly that it was in East Liverpool.

Newton then explained that the department had no officers in her neighborhood as she had reached the Wellsville police.

Chief Hephner said today he has received two or three such calls in the past week.

Hancock Gives Oath For 2 New Officials

Two Hancock County officials—a woman member of the Board of Education and a Grant District commissioner — were sworn into office Tuesday afternoon in County Court at New Cumberland.

They are Mrs. Mary Swartz, the county's first woman board member, and William C. Graham, who was re-elected for a third term as commissioner.

Mrs. Swartz will begin official duties at a reorganization meeting of the board Jan. 5. Graham defeated John T. Allison of Chester in the Nov. 4 general election. Mrs. Swartz unseated incumbent Silas Boley for the board post.

Hammondsville PTA Has Program

HAMMONDSVILLE — Parent-Teacher Association members met for their annual Christmas party Monday night in the elementary school when a program was presented by Stanton School District students.

The program included an accordion and guitar duet by Misses Nellie and Martha Rose, an accordion solo by Lindas Oller, clarinet duet by Janet Pysniak and Karen Grafton, vocal duet by Joyce Blackburn and Sherrill Lysle, tap dances by Debbie Martin and Cecilia Gruszecki, and recitations by Tim Crook and Ricky Householder.

Mrs. Lena Crook was pianist. Christmas carols and songs were also featured. Frank Gruszecki was program chairman.

Prizes in games went to Mrs. Ura Bradley, McKinley Crook and Clyde Crook. Lunch was served by the third and fourth grade homeroom mothers. Tables were decorated in red, green and white.

Mrs. Shirley Grafton was chairman of the lunch committee.

Art displays were arranged in respective rooms by pupils. Mrs. Eva Parsons is president. Forty attended.

Midland's American Legion Post 481 will distribute about 200 toys Tuesday to children in the Midland area.

Toys will be delivered to children in Midland, Industry and Ohio Townships, Smiths Ferry and other areas near Midland.

Post members will begin packing toys Thursday. Next regular meeting will be Jan. 5.

Prisoner Conveyed

LISBON — Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan and Deputy Robert Berresford took Audrey Taylor, 49, of Franklin Square to the Ohio State Penitentiary today to begin sentences of 1-20 and 1-10 years for sodomy and incest.

Sheriff VanFossan and Deputy Berresford will also attend the state sheriffs' convention today through Thursday at Columbus.

Irondale Community Treat Slated Monday

IRONDALE — The community's annual Christmas treat and party for children will be held Monday night.

Children will receive treats near the community's Christmas tree at 7:30 and will then be feted at a party in the American Legion home. Movies will be screened and refreshments served.

Irondale's tree was donated by Cecil Maple of Hammondsville. The party is sponsored by volunteer firemen, and the Legion and auxiliary.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: Please help a heart-broken girl hang on to her sanity.

For more than three years I went with a fellow I'll call Ralph. I wore no ring but considered myself engaged.

All my relatives knew him and said we were an ideal couple. He cut down on his drinking when he started to go with me.

His mother said I was the best thing that ever happened to him.

Last week Ralph came over and I could see he was soused. He told me he was leaving town and the explanation would be in the mail.

When the letter came I almost fainted. He had been seeing a 17-year-old girl behind my back and she became pregnant.

They were married last month and were leaving town in a few days. In other words, Ralph had been seeing me after he'd married this girl.

He swears he still loves me and always will. He wants to wait till after the baby comes, then get a divorce. He says I should trust him and have faith.

He says she may have him physically but I have him mentally. Please tell me what to do—KIKI.

You may have him mentally, but his wife has him legally. put this fellow out of your mind, the same as any other married man with a family on the way.

A fellow who would get married behind his steady's back and continue to see her as if he were single is a deceitful scoundrel and you know it.

He asks you to trust him. Why should you, based on the record? What has he done to merit trust? It's what people DO that counts, not lip service.

I hope you'll have nothing more to do with this double dealer. It's enough that he's wrecked one girl's life. Don't let him try for two.

Jelousy Showing

Dear Ann: There is a girl in our crowd who is giving a very nice guy a raw deal. She is interested in him only because he's captain of the football team.

She's told all of us that he is a big jerk and that she intends to drop him right on his head as soon as football season is over. Then she plans to make a big play for the basketball star.

It burns us up to see her roll her eyes at this fellow and hang on his arm. He already has promised her his gold football and she's gloating like a fiend.

He's a swell Joe, but very homely. It hurts us to see him taken in by this scheming girl.

Can you say something in your column to warn the guy?—TRUE FRIEND.

Like what? An open letter to all homely football captains to beware of a girl who is taking him for a ride?

If he gets thrown for a loss he'll learn, like everyone else. In the meantime, I trust you will keep your noble mouth shut, True Friend, so that you will not make noises like a jealous cat.

Pinched Treasury

Dear Ann: The office where my husband works has a party every month for employes and their wives. My husband is treasurer.

Something always happens to the finances and he gets stuck. For example, last month a couple was unable to attend because of illness. They didn't let him know until it was too late to cancel the reservations. My husband had to pay for their dinners.

Our income is not large. My husband is in no position to make enemies. How can he collect from these deadbeats?—PINCHED.

Either take the parties to a restaurant that will collect for the dinners on the spot or send a letter to all employes informing them that unless their check is in your husband's hands 24 hours in advance, it will be assumed that they are not able to attend.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A posse of officers armed with machine guns apprehended Elwood McClure, 40, without a struggle at his motel room on U. S. 60 between South Charleston and St. Albans.

McClure, sentenced to life in the penitentiary at Moundsville from Kanawha County as an habitual criminal, was taken to State Police Co. B. headquarters at South Charleston. It was not known when he would be returned to prison.

He was credited with masterminding an unusual escape from the penitentiary walls last Nov. 10 during a heavy fog in Moundsville.

Donald Harless and Robert Roy Taylor, both of whom have been returned to the penitentiary, went out with McClure. Taylor also serving a life sentence, was picked up a week after the escape in Norfolk, Va. Harless, convicted of burglary, was captured last week at a relative's home near here.

Cold Wave Eases In Eastern U.S.; Stings Florida

By The Associated Press

Blustery weather which hit northern Midwest areas headed into the Northeast today but generally there was an easing of the unseasonable cold in the Eastern half of the nation.

Freezing weather again chilled northern Florida and it was cold in most of the Southeast. But warmer weather was on the way after more than a week of record low temperatures and snow for December in many areas.

Warmer air also was expected to spread across broad areas in the Gulf and Atlantic states.

Northerly winds, with gusts up to 58 m.p.h., fanned a narrow stream of arctic air into sections of the Dakotas and Minnesota Tuesday. Temperatures dropped to near zero in some areas.

The snow headed into the Great Lakes and most of the north Atlantic region, with cooler weather from the lower Great Lakes to the northern Plains.

Congressman Confirms That Jets Caused Blast

Rep. Arch Moore, 1st District Congressman of West Virginia, today officially confirmed that the loud explosions heard last Wednesday and Thursday in the Ohio Valley were caused by jet planes breaking through the sound barrier.

Rep. Moore said the Air Force informed him that the main blast, which occurred at 10:29 a. m. on Dec. 11 was definitely caused by two Lockheed F-104's, assigned to the 56th Fighter Interceptor Wing at Wright-Patterson Air Base in Dayton.

The planes were on a classified air defense mission and, according to filed flight plans, were the only planes in the Moundsville-Wheeling area at the time the explosions rocked the Ohio Valley, Moore said.

Mail Rush Hits At Wellsville

Monday, Tuesday Pieces Total 35,000

The Wellsville Post Office has received the full impact of the annual Christmas deluge of mail, Postmaster Elmer Evans said today.

"Last week we were wondering where it all was and then Monday it hit us," he said.

A total of 35,000 pieces were canceled Monday and Tuesday and another 25,000 probably will be run through today, he said.

The total for the month, up to and including Tuesday, was 87,002, compared with 93,974 the same period in 1957. Evans said he feels the cold weather has caused the slight decline. The totals will even out before the week is over, he predicted.

Eleven extra carriers and two extra clerks were added to the staff Monday.

No home deliveries will be made Sunday with the exception of parcel post. The stamp and parcel post windows are open daily, including Saturdays and Sundays, from 7:45 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The mail rush will fall off about next Tuesday or Wednesday, he said.

The men will work Christmas morning to deliver any parcel post packages arriving at the Post Office. Anything that looks like a Christmas gift will be delivered. This helps avoid disappointment in many homes, he said.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: Please help a heart-broken girl hang on to her sanity.

For more than three years I went with a fellow I'll call Ralph. I wore no ring but considered myself engaged.

All my relatives knew him and said we were an ideal couple. He cut down on his drinking when he started to go with me.

His mother said I was the best thing that ever happened to him.

Last week Ralph came over and I could see he was soused. He told me he was leaving town and the explanation would be in the mail.

When the letter came I almost fainted. He had been seeing a 17-year-old girl behind my back and she became pregnant.

They were married last month and were leaving town in a few days. In other words, Ralph had been seeing me after he'd married this girl.

He swears he still loves me and always will. He wants to wait till after the baby comes, then get a divorce. He says I should trust him and have faith.

He says she may have him physically but I have him mentally. Please tell me what to do—KIKI.

You may have him mentally, but his wife has him legally. put this fellow out of your mind, the same as any other married man with a family on the way.

A fellow who would get married behind his steady's back and continue to see her as if he were single is a deceitful scoundrel and you know it.

He asks you to trust him. Why should you, based on the record? What has he done to merit trust? It's what people DO that counts, not lip service.

I hope you'll have nothing more to do with this double dealer. It's enough that he's wrecked one girl's life. Don't let him try for two.

Jelousy Showing

Dear Ann: There is a girl in our crowd who is giving a very nice guy a raw deal. She is interested in him only because he's captain of the football team.

She's told all of us that he is a big jerk and that she intends to drop him right on his head as soon as football season is over. Then she plans to make a big play for the basketball star.

It burns us up to see her roll her eyes at this fellow and hang on his arm. He already has promised her his gold football and she's gloating like a fiend.

He's a swell Joe, but very homely. It hurts us to see him taken in by this scheming girl.

Can you say something in your column to warn the guy?—TRUE FRIEND.

Like what? An open letter to all homely football captains to beware of a girl who is taking him for a ride?

If he gets thrown for a loss he'll learn, like everyone else. In the meantime, I trust you will keep your noble mouth shut, True Friend, so that you will not make noises like a jealous cat.

Pinched Treasury

Dear Ann: The office where my husband works has a party every month for employes and their wives. My husband is treasurer.

Something always happens to the finances and he gets stuck. For example, last month a couple was unable to attend because of illness. They didn't let him know until it was too late to cancel the reservations. My husband had to pay for their dinners.

Our income is not large. My husband is in no position to make enemies. How can he collect from these deadbeats?—PINCHED.

Either take the parties to a restaurant that will collect for the dinners on the spot or send a letter to all employes informing them that unless their check is in your husband's hands 24 hours in advance, it will be assumed that they are not able to attend.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mission Group Picks Officers

Delmas Sanford To Serve As President

Election of officers of the Board of Trustees highlighted the meeting of the Community Rescue Mission sponsors Monday night at the YMCA. They are:

Delmas A. Sanford, president; Harry Sault, vice president; Mrs. Robert D. Farwell, secretary, and Dr. Derwin Dimmerling, treasurer.

The finance committee is comprised of Dimmerling, Bill Smith and Fry Reynolds.

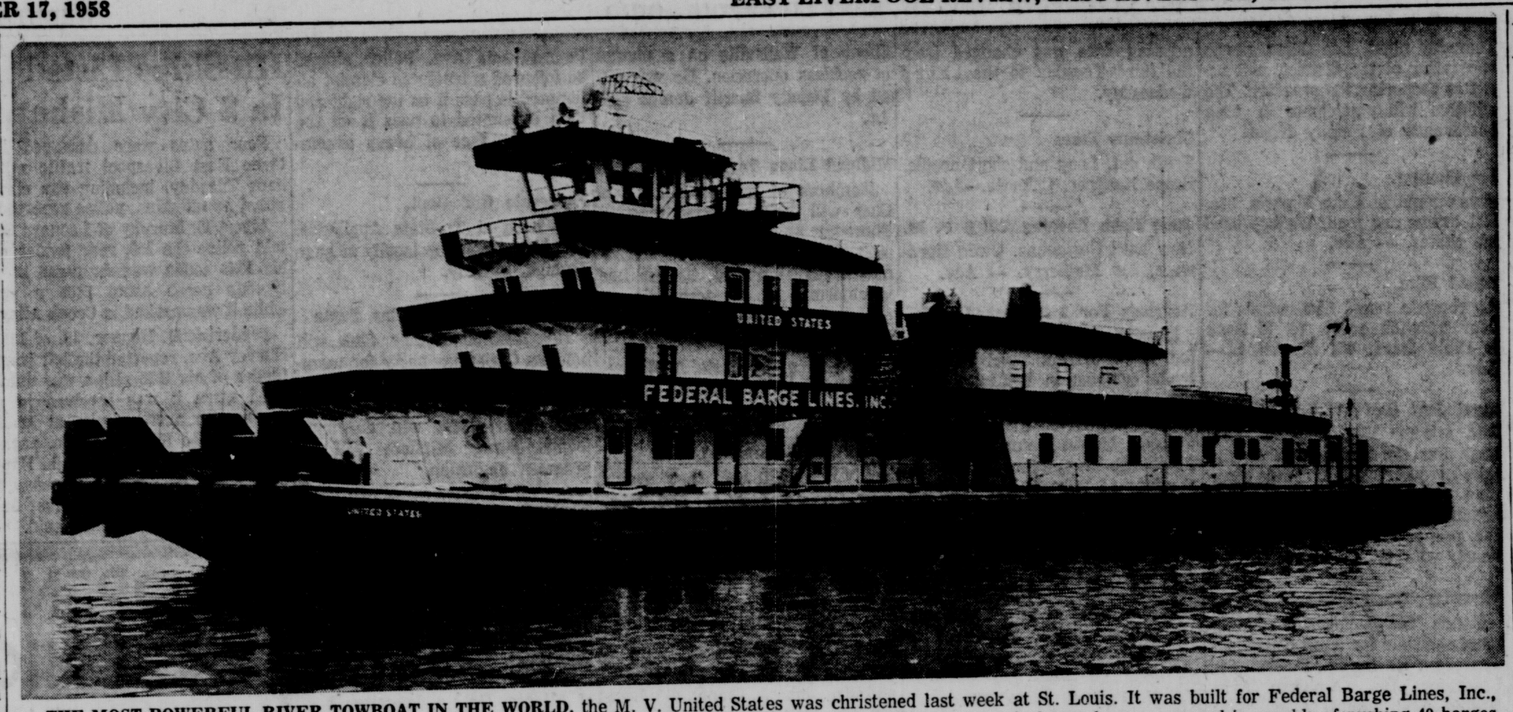
Board members are Roland Edgar, C. W. McCutcheon, Don Smith, Norman Nicely, Bill Parsons, Clarence Stanley, Charles Waggoner, Homer Rutledge, Marvin Birnkrant, Emmett Gaston, Thurman Allen and Dean DeLong.

The board when completed will consist of 25 members, chosen from the work of the mission, Rev. Farwell, the pastor, said.

It was decided that the annual meeting will be held in September of each year.

The next meeting will be Feb. 16 at 8:30 p. m. at the mission at 215 Broadway.

The only rockwool manufacturing plant in the southwest is in Temple, Tex.



THE MOST POWERFUL RIVER TOWBOAT IN THE WORLD, the M. V. United States was christened last week at St. Louis. It was built for Federal Barge Lines, Inc., and will be used on the lower Mississippi River. The 180-foot boat is powered by four diesel engines developing a total of 8,500 horsepower and is capable of pushing 40 barges carrying a total of 40,000 tons of cargo.

Low River Due If Ice Builds

Warmest Weather In 2 Weeks To Be Brief

The U. S. Corps of Engineers at Pittsburgh today warned Ohio Valley communities and industries the river may be dropped to an abnormally low stage if icing conditions continue.

The alert from the Pittsburgh office said that it may be necessary to lower all wicket-type dams between Dam 7 at Midland and Dam 13 at McMechen, W. Va., because of the ice.

The notice was directed at communities and plants that depend on the river for their water.

If the dams are lowered, the river stage will drop to 6 or 7 feet, halting all navigation and probably exposing intake pipes for steel mills, power plants and other users of large quantities of river water.

The engineers said the stages of last Feb. 18-25 may be duplicated. Ice jamming forced lowering of the dams that month, exposing the Indian rocks at Smiths Ferry for the first time in years. East Liverpool is among valley communities that take water from the river, filtering it for consumption.

The engineers said that if the cold wave continues for any length of time, it will increase the possibilities of heavy ice forming. The notice urged that operating personnel be alerted to the possibility of low water and to make necessary preparations for plant operation.

The weather moderated meanwhile, bringing the warmest temperature in over two weeks—mid-30 readings at Dam 8 at Newell today. The mercury reached 31 degrees at midnight then rose to 35 at 7 a. m. and continued climbing.

But the moderation will be brief, according to the Ohio weatherman.

out of the store, which was quite long but only 23 feet wide.

The fire broke out in the middle of the store. Those in front escaped to the street. Those in the back of the store were cut off by a sheet of flames.

Fire extinguishers along the walls were ignored.

Alberto Mazuera, manager of the store, said that when the Christmas lights exploded "The fire went up to the ceiling in a burst of smoke."

"The store was full of people," he said. "I called the people to be quiet and calm and asked for the fire extinguishers and immediately called the firemen.

"Unfortunately panic spread very quickly, which was the principal cause of the deaths. There were so many people in the store that when those in the rear saw they could not get out immediately they turned to the back, crashing into the wall and jamming the stairway."

A fireman, Pedro Rodriguez Ramirez, said when he worked his way through the store with a hose, he found the stairway in the rear covered by bodies. In one rear storeroom on the first floor he found four charred bodies, in another "I found 9 or 10 young women kneeling with their arms outstretched."

President Alberto Lleras Camargo declared national mourning. The government announced it would pay for the funerals.

trudged through the charred remains of their cabin.

"We had a nice cabin," said Romelia. "All of the cabins here in the San Juan cost $8,000 or more to build and furnish. Mostly old people lived in them.

"Rebuild? No," said John. "It takes money for that and ours is gone."

"I wonder what the little animals will do for a drink?" Romelia asked.

"We had three little foxes — Limpy, Eater and Bobtail—and we used to feed them every day."

"Yes," added John. "Every day at half past four exactly."

High winds and low humidity have made the fire fighters' job a tough tone. They don't expect to have even tentative control over the flames before Thursday.

The fire is believed to have been started by a tracer bullet ripping into the dry brush, either from a hunter's rifle or a military plane.

The fire's northern edge is within five mile of the El Toro Marine Air Base. About 11 miles to the south another front is only a mile-and-a-half from the Marine Crops' sprawling Camp Pendleton. No structures at the camp are threatened. At its westernmost point it is five miles from the mission village of San Juan Capistrano.

preliminary hearing is slated Thursday at Columbus before the state board.

Supt. McBride and John Baker, executive head of the Southern Local District, will attend the hearing at which a recommendation on the merger proposal will be made for a final action of the state board in January.

George Wilkinson of Oakmont was sworn in as a new member of the county board, replacing Harry Greenwood of Apples Corners who resigned in September. The next meeting of the county board will be Jan. 20.

Missile

Air Force has now developed combat crews to fire missiles.

Two-and-one-half minutes after the first sign of fire in its tail, the missile was racing targetward at a speed of 9,000 miles an hour. Seconds later the fuel tank section of the missile fell away and was burned up by friction as it reentered the earth's atmosphere.

The nose cone sped on, reaching its maximum speed of 10,000 miles an hour before plunging back through the atmosphere to its impact area 1,500 miles away.

Maj. Gen. David Wade, commander of the 1st Missile Division, said the shot was a great success, despite a 3-hour, 28-minute delay in the final half-hour of the countdown caused by minor technical adjustments. Several additional minutes were lost waiting for three trains to rumble across the base, which lies on the state's main north-south rail route.

until August, O'Hanlon added. The candidates in the eight major cities and villages must run first for nominations on party tickets. The aspirants in the townships, school districts and smaller villages are elected directly on nonpartisan ballots, bypassing primaries.

A revised declaration of candidacy form is being used in Ohio this year. It has been revised to include a sworn declaration from the candidate that he has not been a candidate for the nomination of another party at any primary in the preceding four calendar years. The amended petition form is in compliance with a new state law aimed at stopping "party jumpers."

Mission Group Picks Officers

Delmas Sanford To Serve As President

Election of officers of the Board of Trustees highlighted the meeting of the Community Rescue Mission sponsors Monday night at the YMCA. They are:

Delmas A. Sanford, president; Harry Sault, vice president; Mrs. Robert D. Farwell, secretary, and Dr. Derwin Dimmerling, treasurer.

The finance committee is comprised of Dimmerling, Bill Smith and Fry Reynolds.

Board members are Roland Edgar, C. W. McCutcheon, Don Smith, Norman Nicely, Bill Parsons, Clarence Stanley, Charles Waggoner, Homer Rutledge, Marvin Birnkrant, Emmett Gaston, Thurman Allen and Dean DeLong.

The board when completed will consist of 25 members, chosen from the work of the mission, Rev. Farwell, the pastor, said.

It was decided that the annual meeting will be held in September of each year.

The next meeting will be Feb. 16 at 8:30 p. m. at the mission at 215 Broadway.

The only rockwool manufacturing plant in the southwest is in Temple, Tex.

THE MOST POWERFUL RIVER TOWBOAT IN THE WORLD, the M. V. United States was christened last week at St. Louis. It was built for Federal Barge Lines, Inc., and will be used on the lower Mississippi River. The 180-foot boat is powered by four diesel engines developing a total of 8,500 horsepower and is capable of pushing 40 barges carrying a total of 40,000 tons of cargo.

out of the store, which was quite long but only 23 feet wide.

The fire broke out in the middle of the store. Those in front escaped to the street. Those in the back of the store were cut off by a sheet of flames.

Fire extinguishers along the walls were ignored.

Alberto Mazuera, manager of the store, said that when the Christmas lights exploded "The fire went up to the ceiling in a burst of smoke."

"The store was full of people," he said. "I called the people to be quiet and calm and asked for the fire extinguishers and immediately called the firemen.

"Unfortunately panic spread very quickly, which was the principal cause of the deaths. There were so many people in the store that when those in the rear saw they could not get out immediately they turned to the back, crashing into the wall and jamming the stairway."

A fireman, Pedro Rodriguez Ramirez, said when he worked his way through the store with a hose, he found the stairway in the rear covered by bodies. In one rear storeroom on the first floor he found four charred bodies, in another "I found 9 or 10 young women kneeling with their arms outstretched."

President Alberto Lleras Camargo declared national mourning. The government announced it would pay for the funerals.

Fire

trudged through the charred remains of their cabin.

"We had a nice cabin," said Romelia. "All of the cabins here in the San Juan cost $8,000 or more to build and furnish. Mostly old people lived in them.

"Rebuild? No," said John. "It takes money for that and ours is gone."

"I wonder what the little animals will do for a drink?" Romelia asked.

"We had three little foxes — Limpy, Eater and Bobtail—and we used to feed them every day."

"Yes," added John. "Every day at half past four exactly."

High winds and low humidity have made the fire fighters' job a tough tone. They don't expect to have even tentative control over the flames before Thursday.

The fire is believed to have been started by a tracer bullet ripping into the dry brush, either from a hunter's rifle or a military plane.

The fire's northern edge is within five mile of the El Toro Marine Air Base. About 11 miles to the south another front is only a mile-and-a-half from the Marine Crops' sprawling Camp Pendleton. No structures at the camp are threatened. At its westernmost point it is five miles from the mission village of San Juan Capistrano.

Merger

preliminary hearing is slated Thursday at Columbus before the state board.

Supt. McBride and John Baker, executive head of the Southern Local District, will attend the hearing at which a recommendation on the merger proposal will be made for a final action of the state board in January.

George Wilkinson of Oakmont was sworn in as a new member of the county board, replacing Harry Greenwood of Apples Corners who resigned in September. The next meeting of the county board will be Jan. 20.

Missile

Air Force has now developed combat crews to fire missiles.

Two-and-one-half minutes after the first sign of fire in its tail, the missile was racing targetward at a speed of 9,000 miles an hour. Seconds later the fuel tank section of the missile fell away and was burned up by friction as it reentered the earth's atmosphere.

The nose cone sped on, reaching its maximum speed of 10,000 miles an hour before plunging back through the atmosphere to its impact area 1,500 miles away.

Maj. Gen. David Wade, commander of the 1st Missile Division, said the shot was a great success, despite a 3-hour, 28-minute delay in the final half-hour of the countdown caused by minor technical adjustments. Several additional minutes were lost waiting for three trains to rumble across the base, which lies on the state's main north-south rail route.

Candidates

until August, O'Hanlon added. The candidates in the eight major cities and villages must run first for nominations on party tickets. The aspirants in the townships, school districts and smaller villages are elected directly on nonpartisan ballots, bypassing primaries.

A revised declaration of candidacy form is being used in Ohio this year. It has been revised to include a sworn declaration from the candidate that he has not been a candidate for the nomination of another party at any primary in the preceding four calendar years. The amended petition form is in compliance with a new state law aimed at stopping "party jumpers."

Schools

ville and Port Homer, also begins Friday.

At Irondale, the elementary grades will present a Christmas program Friday morning at 10:30 in the high school auditorium. The high school's Christmas program is scheduled at 2 p. m. Donald Pahl, band director, will be in charge.

Parents have been invited to attend the programs, and also others at Stanton schools.

Some 5,481 county students will be dismissed Friday afternoon, according to Supt. James L. McBride.

Lisbon schools will dismiss at the same time.

Low River Due If Ice Builds

Warmest Weather In 2 Weeks To Be Brief

The U. S. Corps of Engineers at Pittsburgh today warned Ohio Valley communities and industries the river may be dropped to an abnormally low stage if icing conditions continue.

The alert from the Pittsburgh office said that it may be necessary to lower all wicket-type dams between Dam 7 at Midland and Dam 13 at McMechen, W. Va., because of the ice.

The notice was directed at communities and plants that depend on the river for their water.

If the dams are lowered, the river stage will drop to 6 or 7 feet, halting all navigation and probably exposing intake pipes for steel mills, power plants and other users of large quantities of river water.

The engineers said the stages of last Feb. 18-25 may be duplicated. Ice jamming forced lowering of the dams that month, exposing the Indian rocks at Smiths Ferry for the first time in years. East Liverpool is among valley communities that take water from the river, filtering it for consumption.

The engineers said that if the cold wave continues for any length of time, it will increase the possibilities of heavy ice forming. The notice urged that operating personnel be alerted to the possibility of low water and to make necessary preparations for plant operation.

The weather moderated meanwhile, bringing the warmest temperature in over two weeks—mid-30 readings at Dam 8 at Newell today. The mercury reached 31 degrees at midnight then rose to 35 at 7 a. m. and continued climbing.

But the moderation will be brief, according to the Ohio weatherman.

IT TAKES TWO

It takes two — you and The Salvation Army to help assure a happy Christmas for all segments of our community.

The Salvation Army, with the support you give by contributing to the Christmas Appeal, strives to bring Christmas into homes which otherwise would be overlooked, into hospital wards, homes for the aged, institutions, and to men in the military services.

Across the country, The Salvation Army serves thousands of traditional Christmas dinners free. It enables many thousands more to have a happier Christmas by providing food, clothing, other necessities and gifts.

And as The Salvation Army distributes these aids for a happier holiday season, it brings also the joyful message of Christmas.

Senate Leadership Fight

Republican Split Widens

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—A split i Republican ranks widened toda: ove Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's candidacy for party floor leade in the new Senate.

The Illinois senator's assertion he is definitely a candidate and expects to win stiffened the attitude of senators rebelling against their Republican leadership.

The insurgents' spokesman, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, said in an interview: "We have everything to gain and nothing to lose by making our fight for a forward-looking leadership. I think we have a good chance to win. If we are defeated, the party can look forward to further reversals in the 1960 elections."

Dirksen, Senate GOP whip in the last session, told reporters he expects to be elected floor leader at the Republican caucus Jan. 7.

He said he does not believe the other group could block his election. He is supported by Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

The insurgent group has a hard core of 10 members, but claims support among the other 24 Republican senators in the coming Congress.

All of the insurgents rat ethemselves as faithful backers of President Eisenhower's foreign policies, and some call themselves liberals.

"I do not know on what grounds I am being opposed," Dirksen said. "I have gone down the line for key administration legislation, including foreign aid, reciprocal trade, defense reorganization, the U. S. Information Agency appropriations and other controversial measures.

"I have carried the flag for the President and the White House when the going was rough."

The opposition group has said it will announce at a Dec. 30 meeting its candidates for floor leader, whip, Bridges' policy committee post, and for chairman and secretary of the Conference of All Republican Senators.

'Dimes' Drive Plans Mapped

January's Campaign Will Aid Research

Plans for the 1959 March of Dimes were advanced Tuesday night at a dinner meeting in the Travelers Hotel for campaign chairmen and officers of the county chapter of the National Foundation, formerly known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The Columbiana County drive is part of a national campaign Jan. 1-31 that will finance an immediate broad research program against arthritis, virus diseases and birth defects, as well as continuing to provide care for crippled polio victims, the group was told by E. Allan McKeever, county chairman of the National Foundation.

In 1958, about 50,000 polio victims received aid totaling approximately $19 million, he added. The national group's goals have been extended into other research fields since discovery of the Salk Vaccine provided a guard against continued spread of polio.

"The need to train more medical specialists also is being met by expansion of the professional education program," McKeever said. "Polio, arthritis and birth defects have crippling factors in common and demand the attention of highly skilled and well-trained professionals. Patient aid will be extended in 1959 to cover victims of arthritis and certain birth defects. The degree to which this program can operate depends in large part on public support of the March of Dimes."

Other officers of the county chapter are: Judge Joel H. Sharp, vice chairman; Harold Musser of Salem, treasurer, and Mrs. Winifred Byers of Salem, secretary. Also attending the meeting were Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool and William Wark of Salem, co-chairmen for the "Dimes" drive.

Ex-Convict Arrested In Theft, Death

CLEVELAND (AP)—An ex-convict was arrested Tuesday night in connection with the robbery and death of a man who befriended him.

Held was Fonzo E. Robinson, 26, who admitted robbing Ben Shaberman, but denied killing him. He named a 21-year-old East Sider, who was sought by police, as an accomplice in the robbery.

The 58-year-old Shaberman was found dead Tuesday in the basement of the American Gas Furnace Co., which he operated. He had been bound, robbed and strangled. A length of bedsheet was knotted tightly around his neck.

Robinson, arrested in an East Side hotel, claimed Shaberman was still alive when he and his companion left the building.

Robinson, a burglar parolee, had lived with Shaberman and did odd jobs for him during the past two weeks. The robbery occurred Sunday, Robinson said.

His arrest came after he telephoned several relatives and told them he needed money to get out of town because he had killed a man, police said.

Sponsor Confident Of Balloonists' Trip

LONDON (AP) — The London newspaper sponsoring an attempt to cross the Atlantic by balloon said today it is confident the trip is going well.

The Daily Mail said radio experts thought weak radio batteries were the reason no signals had been received from the four British balloonists since Monday.

The balloon Small World last reported Monday from about 620 miles southwest of the Canary Islands, its starting point three days before. Its destination is Barbados, 3,000 miles away in the British West Indies.

Autopsies Due After Mother And Son Found Dead

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—An elderly mother and her son were found dead early Tuesday night in their homes here. The family dog was dead in the back yard.

Police identified the mother and son as Mrs. Georgia Mack, about 95, and James O. Mack, about 70.

Stark County Coroner E. B. Mozes planned autopsies today to determine the cause of deaths. Contents of the dog's stomach were to be examined.

Police expressed the opinion that lye poisoning caused the deaths. They said their investigation showed that the mother or son had cleaned a skillet with lye and that they apparently had eaten food cooked in utensil before all the lye was removed. Some of the food apparently was given to the dog, they added.

Good Looking Trash

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Outside a downtown bank building office girls stopped to gape at an Armored Transport guard emptying a money bag into a city trash can. An explanation was quickly forthcoming — the guard uses a money bag in his truck for a litter bag.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

TV Play Shows Massacre With A Moral

"No crime ever shocked the public more deeply," said Eric Sevaried, the narrator of "Playhouse 90's" gripping, unsentimental and marvelously thorough recapitulation of the St. Valentine's Day massacre which might have been called "The Plot to Kill Bugs Moran."

John Crosby

This is the second of these documentary murder stories to be done on "Playhouse 90" this year. The first was the highly theoretical and thoroughly absorbing story of Stalin's death, which drew a thundering denunciation from the Soviet Union.

This one opened with a shot of a street, the snow drifting down, and a couple of hoodlums being led away at gunpoint by a couple of phoney cops.

THIS WAS the last scene in the marvelously well-planned assassination of Bugs Moran which was marred by only one tiny flaw. Seven men died against the wall of that Chicago garage but Moran wasn't one of them.

A small error in identification by two lookouts posted across the street, a little delay in Moran's schedule which neither Moran nor Machine Gun Jack McGurn could possibly have foreseen—and the plot went awry.

From the end of the story, the drama named "Seven Against the Wall" flashed back to its beginning—a board meeting of the very top echelon of Al Capone's crime empire with Sevareid's off-camera voice quietly introducing and explaining the cast of characters from Machine Gun Jack McGurn, top triggerman and pretty boy who planned the massacre, to the chairman of the board, known to his mobsters as The Man or the Big Boy—Capone himself.

RIGHT FROM the onset you got the idea that was big, big television. There was a spaciousness to the sets, to the streets, to the size of cast, to the very scope of the enterprise.

The action switched from Capone's board room to Moran's apartment and then, in a telling scene, to an ordinary speakeasy where a couple of Moran's bully boys tormented a bartender, broke his glassware, drained his beer.

You got some idea of the helplessness of the ordinary citizen against this crime cartel. A moment later, the feeling was strengthened when a policeman, frisking McGurn, says: "Oh, Mr. McGurn," and gives him back his gun, with the remark: "Sorry, I didn't recognize you."

The gangsters were king then and all cops were terribly respectful. One is tempted to say that this was the shame of the '20s—until you pause to think that the '20s sent Capone finally to jail and McGurn and Moran to death.

SAYS CAPONE: "Aaah, the hell with the public! The public is the guy who wants his glass of beer and his highball"—and orders the assassination.

He was wrong about that. The Valentine's Day killing, as Sevareid pointed out, marked the beginning of the end of the public's tolerance of Al Capone. Within three months he was in jail and he spent about half the rest of his life in jail.

From there the story picked up speed and guts. McGurn was made chief of operations and his meticulous planning was a marvel of organization. The fake hijack of a Capone truck was a master stroke resembling as it did the Trojan Horse, which was perhaps its model.

"This was a team of experts," Sevareid says of the murder squad, "each man selected for a special talent.

"The idea of disguising a pair of the killers as cops was another master stroke of irony. Not only did it work—because who was afraid of cops?—but it must have afforded Chairman of the Board Capone some rich amusement."

IT WAS ALL richly detailed—who did what to whom and just how and when, as behooves the recording of an historic and important event.

"Everything has been done—everything that experience and ingenuity can devise," said Sevareid. The meticulous planning, the observation next across the street from the murder garage, the lines of communication, the exact replica of a police car, even the weather report.

The final operation was a little like the blowing up of the bridge in "Bridge on the River Kwai." You knew it was going to happen, but watching it unfold was agonizingly suspenseful.

The final touch of irony—the fact that the one guy it was all planned for missed the party by sheer accident—was a delightfully piquant touch.

I'm happy, too, that Sevaried ended the proceedings with the wry admission that today, 25 years later, "gang operations are more flagrant than ever."

I HAVE a few small complaints.

The writing was a marvel of journalism but, as dramaturgy, it was painfully ordinary, lacking distinction and characterization. Only Capone and McGurn emerged very clearly as people.

Also, the hard, bright aroma of the '20s—its speech and bounce and bite—was totally missing.

Apart from that, everyone connected with it deserves a low bow, especially Franklin Shaffner for his clean, swift and economical direction, and John Houseman for his extravagantly handsome production.

Incidentally, without a single big name in the cast, the acting was just splendid.

Any maple sugar in the house? It's wonderful grated fine and used in a butter - rich hard sauce to serve with apple dumplings.

Dormitory Hit By Blaze At Wilberforce

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Christmas vacation will come early for many Wilberforce College students, residents of a men's dormitory which was heavily damaged by fire Tuesday.

One student, Don Maness, 19, of Greensburg, Pa., suffered minor injuries when he jumped from a third floor window to a first floor landing. Maness, captain of the Wilberforce basketball team, suffered a possible chipped bone in his foot but was not hospitalized.

The fire will cause Christmas vacations to start two-days early for most of the burned-out students, said George Valentine, college vice president. Some will be housed temporarily in the school gymnasium and student union building.

The blaze, termed accidental by fire officials, started in a student's room. Its cause was not established.

William Free, district chief for two Xenia Twp. fire departments, estimated damage of $75,000 to $80,000 to the bunding and $20,000 to the contents.

Dr. Rembert Stokes, college president, said the three - story brick dormitory was insured for $130,000.

Six neighboring fire departments helped extinguish the blaze, which started during a lunch period when few students were in the 45-year-old building. The central portion of the dormitory was destroyed.

150 Aliens Due For Registration During January

Approximately 150 aliens are expected to register in East Liverpool during January under the federal alien address report program.

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown has received a supply of 200 registration cards, the same number as the last two years.

Under the law, the cards cannot be obtained before Jan. 1 and must be returned to the Post Office by Jan. 31, Brown said.

The cards will be available at the stamp and general delivery windows at the downtown office and at the windows at Station A after New Year's Day.

They must be signed by aliens and returned to the Post Office, Brown emphasized. They cannot be sent in by the aliens.

All non-citizens, except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of some international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers are required to fill out the reports. Parents or legal guardians of children under 14 must report for them.

Wilful violation can result in a fine of $200, imprisonment for 30 days and deportation, Brown said.

Deliverymen Snub Plan In Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of the striking Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union have rejected a federal mediator's proposal to vote again on an old publishers' contract offer.

The strike against nine major New York dailies began when the union members rejected the same offer last Dec. 9.

The membership's rejection of the proposal Tuesday night reversed the union negotiating committee's earlier agreement to resubmit the $7 wage package offer to union members Thursday.

The action dimmed hopes of a settlement soon. Further bargaining sessions have not been arranged. Both sides are expected to meet today to set up further negotiations.

Sam Feldman, union president, said the strike would continue.

Joseph F. Finnegan, national director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, had obtained the agreement for a new vote.

Finnegan's proposal was presented to 1,500 members of the 4,500-member union at a regularly scheduled monthly meeting. They refused it with a majority estimated at 80 per cent by Asher Schwartz, union attorney.

The original vote against the wage offer was 877-772.

Insanity Plea Due In Fatal Shooting

TAVARES, Fla. (AP)—A court-appointed attorney says he will enter a plea of innocent by reason of insanity for an Ironton, Ohio, mental hospital patient charged with fatally shooting his ex-wife.

Walton Hunter of Tavares was appointed Tuesday to defend Charles Hixon, 44, who is charged in the slaying of his divorced wife, Lucille, 36, Nov. 10. The shooting occurred on a main street in nearby Leesburg.

Hunter has 15 days to file a bill of particulars in support of an insanity plea and to obtain record of Hixon's mental hospital history in Ohio.

Celluloid was the first of all plastic materials invented.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

TV Play Shows Massacre With A Moral

"No crime ever shocked the public more deeply," said Eric Sevaried, the narrator of "Playhouse 90's" gripping, unsentimental and marvelously thorough recapitulation of the St. Valentine's Day massacre which might have been called "The Plot to Kill Bugs Moran."

John Crosby

This is the second of these documentary murder stories to be done on "Playhouse 90" this year. The first was the highly theoretical and thoroughly absorbing story of Stalin's death, which drew a thundering denunciation from the Soviet Union.

This one opened with a shot of a street, the snow drifting down, and a couple of hoodlums being led away at gunpoint by a couple of phoney cops.

THIS WAS the last scene in the marvelously well-planned assassination of Bugs Moran which was marred by only one tiny flaw. Seven men died against the wall of that Chicago garage but Moran wasn't one of them.

A small error in identification by two lookouts posted across the street, a little delay in Moran's schedule which neither Moran nor Machine Gun Jack McGurn could possibly have foreseen—and the plot went awry.

From the end of the story, the drama named "Seven Against the Wall" flashed back to its beginning—a board meeting of the very top echelon of Al Capone's crime empire with Sevareid's off-camera voice quietly introducing and explaining the cast of characters from Machine Gun Jack McGurn, top triggerman and pretty boy who planned the massacre, to the chairman of the board, known to his mobsters as The Man or the Big Boy—Capone himself.

RIGHT FROM the onset you got the idea that was big, big television. There was a spaciousness to the sets, to the streets, to the size of cast, to the very scope of the enterprise.

The action switched from Capone's board room to Moran's apartment and then, in a telling scene, to an ordinary speakeasy where a couple of Moran's bully boys tormented a bartender, broke his glassware, drained his beer.

You got some idea of the helplessness of the ordinary citizen against this crime cartel. A moment later, the feeling was strengthened when a policeman, frisking McGurn, says: "Oh, Mr. McGurn," and gives him back his gun, with the remark: "Sorry, I didn't recognize you."

The gangsters were king then and all cops were terribly respectful. One is tempted to say that this was the shame of the '20s—until you pause to think that the '20s sent Capone finally to jail and McGurn and Moran to death.

SAYS CAPONE: "Aaah, the hell with the public! The public is the guy who wants his glass of beer and his highball"—and orders the assassination.

He was wrong about that. The Valentine's Day killing, as Sevareid pointed out, marked the beginning of the end of the public's tolerance of Al Capone. Within three months he was in jail and he spent about half the rest of his life in jail.

From there the story picked up speed and guts. McGurn was made chief of operations and his meticulous planning was a marvel of organization. The fake hijack of a Capone truck was a master stroke resembling as it did the Trojan Horse, which was perhaps its model.

"This was a team of experts," Sevareid says of the murder squad, "each man selected for a special talent.

"The idea of disguising a pair of the killers as cops was another master stroke of irony. Not only did it work—because who was afraid of cops?—but it must have afforded Chairman of the Board Capone some rich amusement."

IT WAS ALL richly detailed—who did what to whom and just how and when, as behooves the recording of an historic and important event.

"Everything has been done—everything that experience and ingenuity can devise," said Sevareid. The meticulous planning, the observation next across the street from the murder garage, the lines of communication, the exact replica of a police car, even the weather report.

The final operation was a little like the blowing up of the bridge in "Bridge on the River Kwai." You knew it was going to happen, but watching it unfold was agonizingly suspenseful.

The final touch of irony—the fact that the one guy it was all planned for missed the party by sheer accident—was a delightfully piquant touch.

I'm happy, too, that Sevaried ended the proceedings with the wry admission that today, 25 years later, "gang operations are more flagrant than ever."

I HAVE a few small complaints.

The writing was a marvel of journalism but, as dramaturgy, it was painfully ordinary, lacking distinction and characterization. Only Capone and McGurn emerged very clearly as people.

Also, the hard, bright aroma of the '20s—its speech and bounce and bite—was totally missing.

Apart from that, everyone connected with it deserves a low bow, especially Franklin Shaffner for his clean, swift and economical direction, and John Houseman for his extravagantly handsome production.

Incidentally, without a single big name in the cast, the acting was just splendid.

Any maple sugar in the house? It's wonderful grated fine and used in a butter - rich hard sauce to serve with apple dumplings.

Dormitory Hit By Blaze At Wilberforce

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Christmas vacation will come early for many Wilberforce College students, residents of a men's dormitory which was heavily damaged by fire Tuesday.

One student, Don Maness, 19, of Greensburg, Pa., suffered minor injuries when he jumped from a third floor window to a first floor landing. Maness, captain of the Wilberforce basketball team, suffered a possible chipped bone in his foot but was not hospitalized.

The fire will cause Christmas vacations to start two-days early for most of the burned-out students, said George Valentine, college vice president. Some will be housed temporarily in the school gymnasium and student union building.

The blaze, termed accidental by fire officials, started in a student's room. Its cause was not established.

William Free, district chief for two Xenia Twp. fire departments, estimated damage of $75,000 to $80,000 to the building and $20,000 to the contents.

Dr. Rembert Stokes, college president, said the three - story brick dormitory was insured for $130,000.

Six neighboring fire departments helped extinguish the blaze, which started during a lunch period when few students were in the 45-year-old building. The central portion of the dormitory was destroyed.

150 Aliens Due For Registration During January

Approximately 150 aliens are expected to register in East Liverpool during January under the federal alien address report program.

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown has received a supply of 200 registration cards, the same number as the last two years.

Under the law, the cards cannot be obtained before Jan. 1 and must be returned to the Post Office by Jan. 31, Brown said.

The cards will be available at the stamp and general delivery windows at the downtown office and at the windows at Station A after New Year's Day.

They must be signed by aliens and returned to the Post Office, Brown emphasized. They cannot be sent in by the aliens.

All non-citizens, except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of some international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers are required to fill out the reports. Parents or legal guardians of children under 14 must report for them.

Wilful violation can result in a fine of $200, imprisonment for 30 days and deportation, Brown said.

Deliverymen Snub Plan In Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of the striking Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union have rejected a federal mediator's proposal to vote again on an old publishers' contract offer.

The strike against nine major New York dailies began when the union members rejected the same offer last Dec. 9.

The membership's rejection of the proposal Tuesday night reversed the union negotiating committee's earlier agreement to resubmit the $7 wage package offer to union members Thursday.

The action dimmed hopes of a settlement soon. Further bargaining sessions have not been arranged. Both sides are expected to meet today to set up further negotiations.

Sam Feldman, union president, said the strike would continue.

Joseph F. Finnegan, national director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, had obtained the agreement for a new vote.

Finnegan's proposal was presented to 1,500 members of the 4,500-member union at a regularly scheduled monthly meeting. They refused it with a majority estimated at 80 per cent by Asher Schwartz, union attorney.

The original vote against the wage offer was 877-772.

Insanity Plea Due In Fatal Shooting

TAVARES, Fla. (AP)—A court-appointed attorney says he will enter a plea of innocent by reason of insanity for an Ironton, Ohio, mental hospital patient charged with fatally shooting his ex-wife.

Walton Hunter of Tavares was appointed Tuesday to defend Charles Hixon, 44, who is charged in the slaying of his divorced wife, Lucille, 36, Nov. 10. The shooting occurred on a main street in nearby Leesburg.

Hunter has 15 days to file a bill of particulars in support of an insanity plea and to obtain record of Hixon's mental hospital history in Ohio.

Celluloid was the first of all plastic materials invented.

Rotarians Hear Ferro Official

Industrial Safety Program Cited

Benefits that can be realized by employers through use of the safety program of the Industrial Commission of Ohio were underscored by Russell W. Frank, director of safety for the Ferro Corp. of Cleveland, at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at the Travelers Hotel.

The program, which includes monthly discussions of safety between employer and employe and distribution of bulletins and posters, is being used by many of the nation's top industries and has resulted in much lower insurance rates and safer working conditions, he said.

HE DISTRIBUTED a voluminous text prepared by the commission's Division of Safety and Hygiene, for Rotarians' use in their work in emphasizing safety.

The text, "Safety Line for '59," lists monthly topic discussions and pinpoints targets for a more effective program.

Frank said the safety plan is being used in Ferro's 16 divisions and said the Louthan Manufacturing Co. in East End had saved $7,000 in one year alone through decreased accident rates and lower insurance costs.

Louthan's safety record this year has been best in the plant's history with only one lost-time accident in over 400 days, a company spokesman said.

FRANK SAID the need for a better safety program in Ohio's industrial plants became evident in 1954 when Cleveland's Safety Council found that insurance claims in the state totaled $57 million with $10 million in Cuyahoga County.

The council found that 20 per cent of accidents were caused by faults in the plants, and 80 per cent by negligence of workers.

The safety program started three years ago with the first pamphlet, "Patterns for Progress." One this year was called "Safety Slate for '58" and "Safety Line for '59" now has been issued.

HE LISTED four points that employers should use as a guide in bettering safety conditions, including spending two hours a month thinking about a plant's safety problems, looking for trouble throughout the plant, touring the buildings with an insurance agent and "learning to recognize deviations in behavior of employes."

Frank said an employe's "deviation from normal" is the most important phase to look for in checking for safety, and if found and corrected, "could bring amazing results."

The detailed text for greater safety was used by more than 5,000 Ohio firms in 1957 and 1958 and over 2 million employes received regular monthly safety instructions, he said.

Some of the monthly topics for safety discussion include "The Safety of Others Depends on You," "Housekeeping Is Safekeeping" and "Safe Workers are Safe Drivers."

IN APPLYING for the safety pattern, employers can obtain, besides the supervisor's discussion guide, monthly streamers listing causes of accidents and ways to prevent them, shop posters, monthly employes' handout sheets on safety and wallet card calendars.

The pamphlet serves as a complete guide for supervisors and coordinates material to provide continuous safety education for employes.

The 1959 publication is free and can be obtained by writing the Industrial Commission of Ohio, Division of Safety and Hygiene, 17 N. 4th St., Columbus 15, Ohio.

FRANK, WHO has been in safety work 22 years, is consultant at Ferro's 16 plants and is a member and past general chairman of the Glass and Ceramics Section of the National Safety Council.

A total of $40,437 has been distributed to Columbiana County this week in poor relief payments in time for Christmas, State Auditor James A. Rhodes announced at Columbus.

The distribution throughout the state was made in advance of the regular February date. "It is unthinkable that this money should lie in the state treasury for several weeks when it can bring some measure of Christmas cheer to those in need," Rhodes said.

The state payments amounted to $5 million in relief funds. More such payments, which come from a 1.65 per cent tax on public utilities, will be distributed late in January or February, Rhodes added.

Rotarians Hear Ferro Official

Industrial Safety Program Cited

Benefits that can be realized by employers through use of the safety program of the Industrial Commission of Ohio were underscored by Russell W. Frank, director of safety for the Ferro Corp. of Cleveland, at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at the Travelers Hotel.

The program, which includes monthly discussions of safety between employer and employe and distribution of bulletins and posters, is being used by many of the nation's top industries and has resulted in much lower insurance rates and safer working conditions, he said.

HE DISTRIBUTED a voluminous text prepared by the commission's Division of Safety and Hygiene, for Rotarians' use in their work in emphasizing safety.

The text, "Safety Line for '59," lists monthly topic discussions and pinpoints targets for a more effective program.

Frank said the safety plan is being used in Ferro's 16 divisions and said the Louthan Manufacturing Co. in East End had saved $7,000 in one year alone through decreased accident rates and lower insurance costs.

Louthan's safety record this year has been best in the plant's history with only one lost-time accident in over 400 days, a company spokesman said.

FRANK SAID the need for a better safety program in Ohio's industrial plants became evident in 1954 when Cleveland's Safety Council found that insurance claims in the state totaled $57 million with $10 million in Cuyahoga County.

The council found that 20 per cent of accidents were caused by faults in the plants, and 80 per cent by negligence of workers.

The safety program started three years ago with the first pamphlet, "Patterns for Progress." One this year was called "Safety Slate for '58" and "Safety Line for '59" now has been issued.

HE LISTED four points that employers should use as a guide in bettering safety conditions, including spending two hours a month thinking about a plant's safety problems, looking for trouble throughout the plant, touring the buildings with an insurance agent and "learning to recognize deviations in behavior of employes."

Frank said an employe's "deviation from normal" is the most important phase to look for in checking for safety, and if found and corrected, "could bring amazing results."

The detailed text for greater safety was used by more than 5,000 Ohio firms in 1957 and 1958 and over 2 million employes received regular monthly safety instructions, he said.

Some of the monthly topics for safety discussion include "The Safety of Others Depends on You," "Housekeeping Is Safekeeping" and "Safe Workers are Safe Drivers."

IN APPLYING for the safety pattern, employers can obtain, besides the supervisor's discussion guide, monthly streamers listing causes of accidents and ways to prevent them, shop posters, monthly employes' handout sheets on safety and wallet card calendars.

The pamphlet serves as a complete guide for supervisors and coordinates material to provide continuous safety education for employes.

The 1959 publication is free and can be obtained by writing the Industrial Commission of Ohio, Division of Safety and Hygiene, 17 N. 4th St., Columbus 15, Ohio.

Anti-Merger Laws Violated, FTC Rules In Erie Firm Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acquisition by Erie, Pa., Sand and Gravel Co. of the Sandusky Division of the Kelley Island Co. violated anti-merger laws, a Federal Trade Commission examiner has held.

Abner S. Lipscomb, the examiner, said Tuesday the acquisition gave Erie a potential monopoly of the lake sand market on the southern shore of Lake Erie.

Lipscomb ruled that the company should divest itself of the assets acquired in the merger, except for the equivalent of one of three dredging vessels.

This divestment, Lipscomb said, should be made in such a manner as to establish an organization comparable to the former Sandusky firm as a competitive unit in the lake sand market.

The order was not a final commission action. It may be appealed or stayed.

Lipscomb held that the acquisition violated provisions of the Clayton Antitrust Act by lessening or threatening to lessen competition and tending to give Erie a monopoly in the market extending from Buffalo, N. Y., to Sandusky, Ohio, and up to 12 miles inland.

Erie purchased Sandusky in March, 1955, for more than one million dollars. FTC's complaint was filed 18 months later. It alleged that the merger gave Erie more than 91 per cent of the market.

Before the acquisition, FTC said, Sandusky was the largest producer of lake sand in the area, accounting for 54½ per cent of the 1954 domestic output, while Erie was second with 37.3 per cent.

Erie fought the case by contending that other types of sand suitable for concrete are all in competition with lake sand.

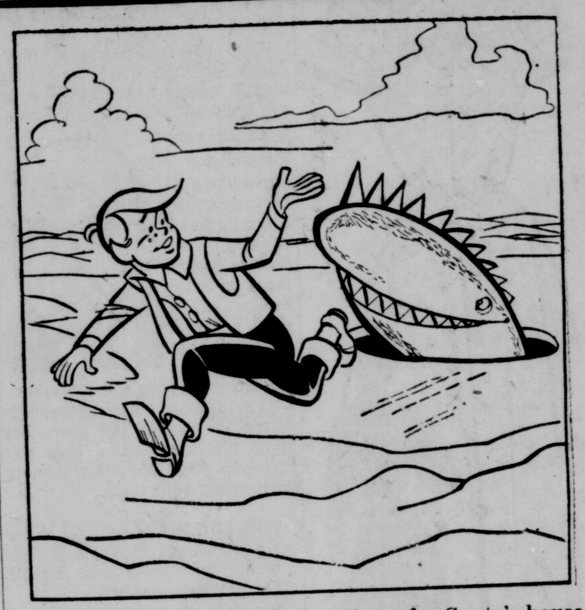
Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(Esteban is trying to reach Santa Land to get help in stopping the professor from releasing gas which will kill all the fairies. The mole and his workers dig an underground road to the edge of an ocean where Esteban hopes to find a cousin of the mole who digs through ice. As they pop out of the hole, Esteban sees the strangest creature he has ever seen—the Snuke.)



"Thank you!" cried Esteban, and ran for Santa's house.

CHAPTER 12

The Snuke is the queerest fish in the sea. He has a small round body. At one end is a fan-like tail. At the other end is an enormous mouth three feet long. The top of its snout has notches sharp as the teeth of a saw.

It was this creature that Esteban and the mole found snoozing on the beach.

"Wake up, old fish," cried the mole.

"Wh-wh-what?" stammered the Snuke, blinking his eyes sleepily.

"What a lazy life you Snukes lead," jeered the mole. "While we moles work day and night you do nothing but lie on the beach and sleep."

"What else is there to do?" yawned the Snuke.

"We have something you can do!" said the mole. "Tell him, boy."

So Esteban told the story again of how all Fairyland was in peril and he must get to Santa Land to warn Santa.

THE SNUKE listened to the story with growing horror. "Oh, my!" he exclaimed. "Some of my very best friends are sea fairies. Oh, my! What shall we do?"

"Do?" snapped the mole. "Take the boy to Santa Land. That's what the saw on your snout is for, isn't it—to cut through ice?"

"O-of course! But how could I carry the boy?"

"In your mouth, silly!" retorted the mole.

The Snuke's great mouth dropped open with surprise. Before he could close it again the mole pushed Esteban in and snapped the jaws shut.

It was cold and dark and wet inside the Snuke's mouth. Esteban crouched there and shivered. He had never been so uncomfortable.

But worse was yet to come for suddenly the Snuke rocked back and forth, took several somersaults, and finally began to roll up and down.

"We are at sea!" thought Esteban.

He held tight to the Snuke's teeth and tried to rock and roll with the fish like a man on a ship.

WHEN HE became used to the rolling it was quite pleasant and he was just beginning to enjoy the trip when a most awful noise deafened him. It was the sound of a screaming saw.

They had reached the polar ice and the Snuke was cutting through it with the saw on top of his snout. Esteban put both hands over his ears, but he could not shut out the sound.

Just when he thought he could stand it no longer the sawing and rocking stopped and the Snuke's mouth opened. Peering out, Esteban saw a great snowy land and tucked between two white hills was a little red house with smoke curling from its chimney.

"It's Santa Land!" cried Esteban joyfully.

He leaped out ot the Snuke's mouth and raced away. But when he had gone only a little way he remembered the Snuke. He ran back.

"Thank you for the ride!" he exclaimed to the fish whose big mouth was sticking out of a hole in the ice.

"Thank you!" replied the Snuke. "Remember it's my friends you're trying to save!"

Esteban turned and dashed away. He ran as fast as he could towards the little red house shouting "Santa! Santa!" at the top of his lungs.

Fire Chief Ousted

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—O. J. Hysell, removed from his job as Logan fire chief Tuesday, has 10 days to appeal the removal order to the Civil Service Commission. Mayor Francis Myers fired Hysell, charging him with incompetence, inefficiency and neglect of duty. Hysell's removal grew out of a City Council resolution asking the mayor to investigate the operation of the fire department.

Court Denies Review Plea In Burglary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Supreme Court today refused to review the burglary conviction of a Cleveland man wanted, with a companion, for trial on safe robbery charges in Jamestown, N. Y.

Charles C. Skubovis appealed from his conviction in the $161 burglary of the Bobbie Brooks Co., Cleveland, in mid-1957. He was at liberty under bond from sentence to Ohio Penitentiary.

Skubovis, 33, and Albert H. Severino, 37, also were indicted in Cleveland on charges of possessing burglary tools.

An extradition warrant was issued recently for return of the pair to Jamestown, N. Y., for trial on charges of burglary and larceny. The charges stemmed from the theft last April of watches and old coins from a Jamestown woman.

Extradition action was postponed pending disposition of the Ohio cases.

The Supreme Court set Jan. 16 as the execution date for Rell Blankenship, 43, for the fatal shooting of Loren "Gus" Borden, 26, in Gallia County jail at Gallipolis with the sheriff's gun. The court rejected Blankenship's appeal from his first-degree murder conviction.

Blankenship is in Ohio Penitentiary Death Row.

He snatched a gun from the holster of Sheriff Oscar Baird as the officer placed another prisoner in jail. Blankenship wounded another prisoner, Arnold Cooper, before heeding Baird's demand to surrender. The shooting occurred Aug. 17, 1957.

Anti-Merger Laws Violated, FTC Rules In Erie Firm Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acquisition by Erie, Pa., Sand and Gravel Co. of the Sandusky Division of the Kelley Island Co. violated anti-merger laws, a Federal Trade Commission examiner has held.

Abner S. Lipscomb, the examiner, said Tuesday the acquisition gave Erie a potential monopoly of the lake sand market on the southern shore of Lake Erie.

Lipscomb ruled that the company should divest itself of the assets acquired in the merger, except for the equivalent of one of three dredging vessels.

This divestment, Lipscomb said, should be made in such a manner as to establish an organization comparable to the former Sandusky firm as a competitive unit in the lake sand market.

The order was not a final commission action. It may be appealed or stayed.

Lipscomb held that the acquisition violated provisions of the Clayton Antitrust Act by lessening or threatening to lessen competition and tending to give Erie a monopoly in the market extending from Buffalo, N. Y., to Sandusky, Ohio, and up to 12 miles inland.

Erie purchased Sandusky in March, 1955, for more than one million dollars. FTC's complaint was filed 18 months later. It alleged that the merger gave Erie more than 91 per cent of the market.

Before the acquisition, FTC said, Sandusky was the largest producer of lake sand in the area, accounting for 54½ per cent of the 1954 domestic output, while Erie was second with 37.3 per cent.

Erie fought the case by contending that other types of sand suitable for concrete are all in competition with lake sand.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(Esteban is trying to reach Santa Land to get help in stopping the professor from releasing gas which will kill all the fairies. The mole and his workers dig an underground road to the edge of an ocean where Esteban hopes to find a cousin of the mole who digs through ice. As they pop out of the hole, Esteban sees the strangest creature he has ever seen—the Snuke.)

CHAPTER 12

The Snuke is the queerest fish in the sea. He has a small round body. At one end is a fan-like tail. At the other end is an enormous mouth three feet long. The top of its snout has notches sharp as the teeth of a saw.

It was this creature that Esteban and the mole found snoozing on the beach.

"Wake up, old fish," cried the mole.

"Wh-wh-what?" stammered the Snuke, blinking his eyes sleepily.

"What a lazy life you Snukes lead," jeered the mole. "While we moles work day and night you do nothing but lie on the beach and sleep."

"What else is there to do?" yawned the Snuke.

"We have something you can do!" said the mole. "Tell him, boy."

So Esteban told the story again of how all Fairyland was in peril and he must get to Santa Land to warn Santa.

THE SNUKE listened to the story with growing horror. "Oh, my!" he exclaimed. "Some of my very best friends are sea fairies. Oh, my! What shall we do?"

"Do?" snapped the mole. "Take the boy to Santa Land. That's what the saw on your snout is for, isn't it—to cut through ice?"

"O-of course! But how could I carry the boy?"

"In your mouth, silly!" retorted the mole.

The Snuke's great mouth dropped open with surprise. Before he could close it again the mole pushed Esteban in and snapped the jaws shut.

"Thank you!" cried Esteban, and ran for Santa's house.

It was cold and dark and wet inside the Snuke's mouth. Esteban crouched there and shivered. He had never been so uncomfortable.

But worse was yet to come for suddenly the Snuke rocked back and forth, took several somersaults, and finally began to roll up and down.

"We are at sea!" thought Esteban.

He held tight to the Snuke's teeth and tried to rock and roll with the fish like a man on a ship.

WHEN HE became used to the rolling it was quite pleasant and he was just beginning to enjoy the trip when a most awful noise deafened him. It was the sound of a screaming saw.

They had reached the polar ice and the Snuke was cutting through it with the saw on top of his snout. Esteban put both hands over his ears, but he could not shut out the sound.

Just when he thought he could stand it no longer the sawing and rocking stopped and the Snuke's mouth opened. Peering out, Esteban saw a great snowy land and tucked between two white hills was a little red house with smoke curling from its chimney.

"It's Santa Land!" cried Esteban joyfully.

He leaped out ot the Snuke's mouth and raced away. But when he had gone only a little way he remembered the Snuke. He ran back.

"Thank you for the ride!" he exclaimed to the fish whose big mouth was sticking out of a hole in the ice.

"Thank you!" replied the Snuke. "Remember it's my friends you're trying to save!"

Esteban turned and dashed away. He ran as fast as he could towards the little red house shouting "Santa! Santa!" at the top of his lungs.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Mild Exercise Can Ease Stiff Joints

Are your joints stiff and "older" than your legal age? When burdened with excess poundage or habitually used in a limited way, joints lose flexibility. Also, too, little physical activity in daily life can age joints alarmingly — they can be 10 to 15 years older than your birthdays.

Ida Jean Kain

If the motion in any joint is limited, don't "favor" it. Consult with an orthopedic specialist, an osteopathic physician or an authority in corrective gymnastics.

Think of the joints as allowing ease of motion. Nature did a superb job of designing the joints to best fit our everyday needs. There is a ball and socket joint at the shoulders and hips which permits movement in all planes and rotation besides.

OTHER TYPES of joints allow for wide range of motion in one plane, such as the hinge point of elbow and ankle. The wrist joint permits movement in two planes.

The oil of exercise is needed to keep the joints in smooth working order. Here is a simple routine to encourage joint flexibility. Since the neck is a common tension spot, let's begin there.

Sit with spine straight, shoulders relaxed and level. Slowly turn your head to bring chin in line with shoulder. Now bend your head, aiming to touch chin to collarbone, and hold this position for a few seconds.

By holding the position the joint structures will begin to stretch. It takes practice. Slowly return to position, turn head in opposite direction and repeat. Do not raise shoulder. Avoid any forced or jerky motion.

To release shoulder tension, shrug shoulders loosely. Hunch shoulders up toward ears and move the shoulders back, down and around in relaxed lazy circles.

Now let's put shoulder joints through their full range of motion. Swing alternate arms rhythmically in wide, loose circles, swinging up, around, back and down.

THEN SWING both arms together in wide circles, and follow through by crossing arms in front of body—swing in, up, then down and around and repeat.

Carry on by putting all the joints through their complete range of motion—daily. Bend the knees. If deep knee bends are beyond you, sit on a table and swing legs back and forth at the knee joints, free and easy.

Standing, swing legs at hip joints, then make wide circles, moving the hip joints through their full range. Stretch and bend finger joints, toes, ankles. and do a few sidebends to keep waist "joint" limber.

Keep supple—keep young!

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Toys Should Be Chosen Wisely

Wise parents purchase playthings for their child the year around, adding new ones when he can profit most from them. Stimulated by commercial and emotional pressures, at Christmas, however, we tend to heap a lot of playthings on a child all at once. Most youngsters get too many toys at this season and some not enough during the rest of the year. Too many playthings all at once can confuse a child and cause him to be careless with them.

By Garry Meyers

THE CHILD who receives many more playthings than his friends can become selfish and develop other problems as well.

It is not easy for parents to resist giving a child, especially those under five or six, too many playthings at Christmas. Nor is it easy to choose the kind of toys which will provide useful amusement for a long while.

There are many good toys on the market, but the best are not always among the best sellers. The glamour of gay paints and novelty lures many parents to purchase what may prove attractive to the child for only a little while or which soon may perish.

In choosing a toy for your child, keep in mind how long it will last and how many amusing uses he will be able to put it to. Will he enjoy operating it alone? Be sure, also, that some of his playthings will be suited for use with other children near his own age.

CONSIDER playthings which will encourage your child in creative fun — blocks for building for the younger child, construction sets for the child old enough to use them, materials for creative fun for the youngster 4 to 7 or 8, including crayons, paints, colored sheets of paper and simple tools.

It is ideal when good tools and materials for a workshop are gradually added to from preschool days on through high school.

And do include some children's magazines and books suited to the child's interests and degree of development.

My bulletins, "Beginnings of Imagination" and "Stimulate Your Child's Imagination," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make candles burn without trickling down the sides?

A. A few days before the candles are to be used, place them in the refrigerator and let them remain until the last minute before calling the guests to the table. The wax will not run down the sides; the flame will consume it.

Q. How can I prevent the formation of icing, or turning back to sugar, when making syrup?

A. When the syrup is coming to a boil, add one - third teaspoon cream of tartar to every two cups of sugar used, and this trouble will be avoided.

Q. How can I treat wet shoes to prevent them from cracking?

A. Stuff the shoes tightly with paper, then let them dry very slowly.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Mild Exercise Can Ease Stiff Joints

Are your joints stiff and "older" than your legal age? When burdened with excess poundage or habitually used in a limited way, joints lose flexibility. Also, too, little physical activity in daily life can age joints alarmingly — they can be 10 to 15 years older than your birthdays.

Ida Jean Kain

If the motion in any joint is limited, don't "favor" it. Consult with an orthopedic specialist, an osteopathic physician or an authority in corrective gymnastics.

Think of the joints as allowing ease of motion. Nature did a superb job of designing the joints to best fit our everyday needs. There is a ball and socket joint at the shoulders and hips which permits movement in all planes and rotation besides.

OTHER TYPES of joints allow for wide range of motion in one plane, such as the hinge point of elbow and ankle. The wrist joint permits movement in two planes.

The oil of exercise is needed to keep the joints in smooth working order. Here is a simple routine to encourage joint flexibility. Since the neck is a common tension spot, let's begin there.

Sit with spine straight, shoulders relaxed and level. Slowly turn your head to bring chin in line with shoulder. Now bend your head, aiming to touch chin to collarbone, and hold this position for a few seconds.

By holding the position the joint structures will begin to stretch. It takes practice. Slowly return to position, turn head in opposite direction and repeat. Do not raise shoulder. Avoid any forced or jerky motion.

To release shoulder tension, shrug shoulders loosely. Hunch shoulders up toward ears and move the shoulders back, down and around in relaxed lazy circles.

Now let's put shoulder joints through their full range of motion. Swing alternate arms rhythmically in wide, loose circles, swinging up, around, back and down.

THEN SWING both arms together in wide circles, and follow through by crossing arms in front of body—swing in, up, then down and around and repeat.

Carry on by putting all the joints through their complete range of motion—daily. Bend the knees. If deep knee bends are beyond you, sit on a table and swing legs back and forth at the knee joints, free and easy.

Standing, swing legs at hip joints, then make wide circles, moving the hip joints through their full range. Stretch and bend finger joints, toes, ankles. and do a few sidebends to keep waist "joint" limber.

Keep supple—keep young!

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Toys Should Be Chosen Wisely

Wise parents purchase playthings for their child the year around, adding new ones when he can profit most from them. Stimulated by commercial and emotional pressures, at Christmas, however, we tend to heap a lot of playthings on a child all at once. Most youngsters get too many toys at this season and some not enough during the rest of the year. Too many playthings all at once can confuse a child and cause him to be careless with them.

THE CHILD who receives many more playthings than his friends can become selfish and develop other problems as well.

It is not easy for parents to resist giving a child, especially those under five or six, too many playthings at Christmas. Nor is it easy to choose the kind of toys which will provide useful amusement for a long while.

There are many good toys on the market, but the best are not always among the best sellers. The glamour of gay paints and novelty lures many parents to purchase what may prove attractive to the child for only a little while or which soon may perish.

In choosing a toy for your child, keep in mind how long it will last and how many amusing uses he will be able to put it to. Will he enjoy operating it alone? Be sure, also, that some of his playthings will be suited for use with other children near his own age.

CONSIDER playthings which will encourage your child in creative fun — blocks for building for the younger child, construction sets for the child old enough to use them, materials for creative fun for the youngster 4 to 7 or 8, including crayons, paints, colored sheets of paper and simple tools.

It is ideal when good tools and materials for a workshop are gradually added to from preschool days on through high school.

And do include some children's magazines and books suited to the child's interests and degree of development.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make candles burn without trickling down the sides?

A. A few days before the candles are to be used, place them in the refrigerator and let them remain until the last minute before calling the guests to the table. The wax will not run down the sides; the flame will consume it.

Q. How can I prevent the formation of icing, or turning back to sugar, when making syrup?

A. When the syrup is coming to a boil, add one - third teaspoon cream of tartar to every two cups of sugar used, and this trouble will be avoided.

Q. How can I treat wet shoes to prevent them from cracking?

A. Stuff the shoes tightly with paper, then let them dry very slowly.

Simplicity Will Mark Inauguration

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Simplicity will mark the inauguration of Michael V. DiSalle as governor.

State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman made that clear in announcing that Columbus Atty. Simon P. Dunkle would have charge of the ceremonies.

Dunkle plans to confer this week with DiSalle in Toledo on preparations for the occasion.

Oath-taking for DiSalle and other elected Democratic state officials will take place at noon, Jan. 12, on the west steps of the statehouse unless weather forces a shift indoors to the capitol rotunda.

The DiSalle-Dunkle meeting will decide whether other inauguration customs will be followed. They include presentation of the governor's commission by outgoing Gov. C. William O'Neill and administration of the oath by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Tentative plans call for a short speech by DiSalle followed by a reception in his office for friends and well-wishers. Similar receptions are planned by other party officials who ousted Republicans in the Democratic election sweep.

The others are Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey, who succeeds Paul M. Herbert; Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson, who succeeds Roger W. Tracy and Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who succeeds William Saxbe.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown only Republican elective official in the statehouse to withstand the Democratic tide, will be sworn in his office and receive friends there.

The only other administrative official remaining in the statehouse is Auditor James A. Rhodes who did not stand for reelection because his four-year term has two more years to run.

DiSalle and other elected officials, including Brown, will start the first four-year terms for those offices under a change provided by voter approval of a state constitutional amendment.

DiSalle defeated O'Neill by the widest margin recalled by political veterans in a gubernatorial election. Until O'Neill took office two years ago, after beating DiSalle in their first clash, Gov. Frank J. Lausche was the only elected Democrat in the statehouse. Lausche now is a U.S. senator. He will be serving with Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young who defeated Republican Sen. John Bricker last month.

During the afternoon of inauguration day, DiSalle and other new officials will be entertained by the Press Club of Ohio at a stag smoker in the Southern Hotel.

That evening, Governor and Mrs. DiSalle will attend an inaugural ball in Veterans Memorial Hall to be held between 9 p. m. and 1 a. m. Tickets are $10 and $25 a couple.

Coleman expressed the hope that proceeds from the ball would be sufficient to wipe out a state headquarters deficit of about $30,000.

The state chairman said DiSalle does not plan to hold the customary dinner in the mansion for close friends after the inauguration.

"We are trying to keep the inauguration as simple as possible," Coleman explained. "If Mike had his way, all he would do on Monday noon is punch a big time clock and then start right in to work."

Because of the widespread interest in the ceremonies, Coleman estimated 3,000 or more would come to Columbus from out of town for the occasion.

Blaze Levels Steel Foundry

$1 Million Plant In Bucyrus Destroyed

BUCYRUS, Ohio (AP)—The million-dollar plant of the Crawford Steel Foundry Co. here was destroyed by fire early today. Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

The plant, owned by the Miller Manufacturing Co. of Monroe, Mich., officially changed hands about a week ago, after many weeks of negotiations and financing arrangements between the Michigan company, the former owners, and Walter Michael, former president and general manager.

The blaze broke out about 3 a. m., possibly in a corner of the 200-foot long combination brick and wood foundry building, firemen said.

Principal product of the plant, employing about 150 persons, was electrical steel castings.

Flames had spread to the greater part of the building by the time firemen arrived and there was little hope of saving the building. Firemen were still pouring water over the ruins at 8:30 a.m.

Spokesmen for the Neff and Dostal insurance firm in Bucyrus, which holds the insurance account for the foundry, called it a "million dollar plant" but said there could be no official estimate of the damage until a complete investigation is made.

The agents, however, said they feel that while the building itself appears to have been destroyed, there may be some chance of salvaging equipment inside.

Nation Faces Crucial Winter

Opposition Rises Against Turkey's Prime Minister

By WEBB MCKINLEY

ISTANBUL (AP)—Opposition to Prime Minister Adnan Menderes is rising within his own Democrat party as Turkey enters a crucial winter.

Menderes finds himself harassed as seldom before. In the big cities people are grumbling. His political rivals are campaigning with more than usual truculence. The press, embittered by restrictions, has turned against him. Tension is running high.

Menderes, and Turkey with him, are going through hard times, probably the hardest since he came to power in 1950. In his drive to modernize the country, Menderes has increased production and improved the lot of the peasants remarkably, but he has pulled Turkey close to the economic brink.

Backed by new Allied loans, his regime launched a new economic program last summer to stabilize the currency, combat inflation and end the shortages that were paralyzing the country.

The program included several unpopular if necessary measures, such as virtual devaluation of the Turkish lira and tough controls on credit.

American officials have applauded this program and urged the Turks to hold fast to it.

But to the man on the street in Istanbul the cost of living is far ahead of rising salaries.

Opposition within and without his party has put Menderes under heavy pressures. This could cause him to give way on the economic reform program. Or it could cause him to lash out with sterner measures against anyone who opposes him. He does not like to be criticized.

It seems likely that Menderes remains popular with the people outside the cities. They form 80 per cent of the Turkish population.

But winter is the season of discontent in this hard land. Fuel prices are up, shortages are still critical and pay still low.

County Scouts To Hold 'Paul Bunyon' Camp

LISBON — A Paul Bunyan polar bear camp for Columbiana County Boy Scouts will be held Friday and Saturday, Jan. 3 and 4 at Camp McKinley, west of Lisbon.

Central feeding will be used and reservations must be in by Saturday, according to Leonard McDaniel, Shawnee District executive.

Scouts will be shown how winter camping can be comfortable with proper equipment.

Protestant church services will be held Sunday. Catholic boys will go to Mass at St. George's Church in Lisbon.

Camping will begin at noon Saturday and will break up after the noon meal on Sunday, McDaniels said.

Beaver Music Groups Plan Concert Tonight

The annual public Christmas concert of Beaver Local student music groups will be held tonight at 7:30 at the high school auditorium.

Jack Campbell, band director, and Miss Carol Pittenger, vocal supervisor, will be in charge. No admission will be charged.

Killed In Wreck

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Charles Weikel, 43, of Mentor Headlands was killed when his car skidded on the icy pavement of Ohio 283 near Corduroy Road Tuesday and crashed into an oncoming car.

Findings Told By Coroner In Tragic Blaze

CHICAGO (AP) — Sneak smoking, delay in sounding an alarm and combustible materials in a stairwell stood out today among findings in the tragic fire at Our Lady of the Angeles School Dec. 1.

Coroner Walter McCarron said the most important finding was a report of sneak smoking in the school just before the fire in which 89 children and 3 nuns perished.

Sgt. Drew Brown of the police arson squad told the coroner's blue ribbon jury Tuesday that:

"We have definitely found there had been smoking in the school" near the stairwell where the fire started.

"We have found definitely that combustible materials were stored in the stairwell."

Brown testified the arson squad found two boys who said they had seen the sneak smokers between 2:20 and 2:30 p.m. The fire alarm was sounded at 2:42.

Brown said the boys could not identify the smokers by name and that pupils and teachers would be questioned again.

McCarron said the smoking incident "promises to open an entirely new line of inquiry and probably is the most important piece of evidence on the origin of the fire which we have received."

Brown testified the fire's origin remained undetermined; that there are strong indications it was accidental rather than arson, and that police had been unable to find evidence that any volatile liquid had been used.

The inquest will be resumed Jan. 13.

Funeral Set Friday

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services will be held Friday in Milan (Erie County) for Mrs. Frank A. Day, publisher of the weekly Milan Messenger. The 78-year-old Mrs. Day died Tuesday at the home of her son, Victor, in Maumee.

Wellsville Rolls Over Mingo, 83-74, For Third Victory

Dan Baldwin Scores 25 To Lead Tigers

By ROB NIBLOCK

Hitting on a sizzling 52 per cent of their shots, the Wellsville Tigers swept by Mingo, 83-74, to record their third victory in five starts Tuesday night at Beacom Memorial Gymnasium.

Five Tiger regulars hit for double figures in the free - scoring game, which was the final for Coach Jack McDevitt's Wellsville cagers before the holiday recess.

WELLSVILLE, which lost "squeakers" to Midland and East Liverpool, will begin its bid for district honors and the sectional title when it travels to Toronto Jan. 2.

Though off on the floor play, the Tigers had their best night from the field this season, hitting 32 of 61 shots. In a torrid third period, Wellsville dropped in five of five from the field immediately after the intermission and finished with 26 points on 12 fielders and two free throws.

In losing their third game in three starts, Coach Mike Rodak's Indians were off from the field in the first two quarters and unable to close the gap despite a strong comeback in the second half.

Mingo, which had beaten New Cumberland in the opener and then lost to powerful Steubenville Big Red, 61-38, had only six field goals in the first half.

But led by Frank Fuscaro, who took scoring honors for the evening with 30 points, Mingo dropped in 22 of 44 attempts from the field in a last-half surge.

TIGER scoring whiz Dan Baldwin led the high-powered Tiger attack with 25 points, just a shade under his average. The 6-2 senior forward, who is making a strong bid for All-Ohio recognition, started slowly but had a 14-point fourth period on four buckets and six successful charity tosses in as many attempts. In the first two periods, he was able to convert only one of seven tries from the foul line.

As a team, however, the Tigers showed improvement at the foul line after their sub-par 8 of 26 conversions against East Liverpool last Saturday night. They connected on 19 of 36 attempts for 53 per cent.

A closely officiated contest, Mingo, too, made numerous trips to the charity stripe, converting 18 of 31 tries.

Franklin Jackson, who continues to play consistent ball for the Tigers, was second high with 15 points and played the boards on even terms with Mingo's 6-4 center, Ralph McKay.

Sophomores Bill DeSarro and Bob Kiggans each had the best scoring nights of their young varsity careers. Kiggans finished with 13 and DeSarro with 12 counters.

Junior guard Milton Lamp, who led the Tiger third-period surge, collected 11 points — all in that third quarter.

Baldwin's brother, Phil, rounded out the Tiger scoring with 7 points.

FUSCARDO, a ball - hawking guard, opened the scoring on a driving one-hander to give Mingo the lead for the first and only time in the contest.

Kiggans quickly knotted the score on a hook from just inside the foul line and Jackson put the Tigers ahead to stay on a layup.

By the end of the first period, the Tigers had a 21-14 advantage. They led 35-22 at the end of the half and 61-43 when the third quarter buzzer sounded.

McKay, who wound up with 16 points, second high for the Indians, and Fuscardo kept Mingo from dropping entirely out of contention in the third quarter.

Capitalizig on ragged Tiger ball-handling in the fourth quarter, the Indians moved from a 20-point deficiency to within 11 points of Wellsville late in the game.

Fuscardo, whose 17 points accounted for nearly half of the Indians' 31 tallies in the final period, made the count 71-60, midway through that quarter. But Baldwin quickly brought the Tigers again to the front on two successful foul conversions and a driving layup.

In the closing minutes, the Tigers again grew careless and Mingo seized the opportunity to narrow the gap to nine points by the time the final buzzer had sounded.

United Snares Overtime Tilt

HANOVERTON — United High's Golden Eagles, tagged as the team to beat in the Columbiana County A scramble, managed to keep their undefeated record intact Tuesday night, but only after squeezing by visiting Southeast, 56-55, in an overtime battle.

The regulation game ended in a 49-49 deadlock, but center Frank Shagnot dumped in six points and Jim Summer one to give the Eagles their fourth straight victory.

Southeast, from Portage County, had a chance to tie the game and force it into a second overtime, but converted only one shot of a two-shot foul and United managed to gain a jump ball as time ran out.

In the closing seconds of the regulation game, United's Summer had a chance for a hero role in winning the game with a foul shot, but converted only once in two attempts to earn United a tie.

Summer and Lindesmith led the way for Coach Ray Russell's club by collecting 17 points each. Shagnot, who provided the victory with the overtime performance when he made two goals and two fouls, finished with 11 points.

The Eagles won the game at the foul line as Southeast had a 20-17 edge in total field goals. Southeast managed to salvage the reserve preliminary, 36-20, over the United reserves.

SALINEVILLE — In a double overtime contest, Coach Dick Jones' Salineville cagers lost their fourth game here Tuesday night to invading Jewett, 69-67.

Bill Corum, Sports Columnist, Churchill Downs Head, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Corum, a small town boy who found fame in New York and contentment in the blue grass of Kentucky, died Tuesday night at the age of 63.

Cancer of the lung, complicated by pneumonia, ended his dual career of nationally syndicated sports columnist for the New York Journal American and president of Churchill Downs race track in Louisville, Ky.

He died in New York's St. Luke's Hospital, but as always he did not miss a deadline. He became critically ill over the weekend, and ironically the newspaper for which he worked will not carry his obituary today. Along with eight other metropolitan dailies, it has suspended publication because of a deliverers' strike.

Max Kase, sports editor of the Journal American, said today, "This comes as a great personal shock to me. There is nothing I can add to the wonderful record he has made as a man."

Sports writers and sportsmen across the nation echoed Kase's feelings.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the famous 84-year-old horse racing trainer, said Corum's death was a great loss to racing. "There's nothing you can say about him that isn't real good. He was a wonderful man, a wonderful writer."

Born at Speed, Mo., July 20 1895, Corum began building that reputation in 1925 when he joined the Journal American as a baseball writer. That was the same year he saw his first Kentucky Derby, and he loved and praised the classic race for 3-year-olds so much that in 1949, when Col. Matt Winn died, he was the logical choice for the presidency of the tradition-steeped race track.

Corum continued in his sports writing job, but for two months each spring he went to the blue grass country to conduct the spring meeting of which the derby is the premier attraction.

Two New York Westchester County basketball stars, Ken McComb of White Plains and Don Walsh of Riverdale, are with North Carolina's freshman basketball team. McComb is 6-foot-6 and 235 pounds.

Lake Connects For 16 Points In Pacing Win

Midland High's undefeated Leopards encountered only minor trouble in sweeping to their fourth consecutive victory of the season, 58-39, over a tall Crafton team Tuesday night at Midland's gymnasium.

After an 8-8 tie early in the first period, Coach George Hamilton's sharpshooters pulled away rapidly in disposing of their rangy opponents who entered the contest with three straight victories to their credit.

Crafton made a third - quarter bid to make up for a 15-point deficit at halftime, 31-16, but Midland, shooting a 33 per cent average for the game, managed to maintain its lead and win in convincing fashion.

Crafton, with three players 6-4 or over in its starting lineup, was permitted only 17 field goals and 39 rebounds by Midland's towering front court.

Junior center Movie Smith sparked the defense along with junior Gene Lake who topped all scorers for the night with 16 points.

Smith, 6-4, pulled in 27 of Midland's 77 rebounds while adding 14 points to the offensive assault. Lake shared honored with 23 rebounds and collected eight field goals to pace the scoring.

Robertson's Finger Hurt, But He'll Play

CINCINNATI (AP) — Oscar Robertson, all-America basketball standout for the University of Cincinnati has a damaged finger and the team has a game tonight against College of the Pacific.

But he'll still be on hand, and the chances are the injury won't handicap him much in keeping up with his current 42-points-a-game.

Coach George Smith said Tuesday Robertson had a slight dislocation of a little finger in the Marshall game last Saturday.

But Oscar was hard at work Tuesday in practice as usual, although the finger was swollen.

Robertson said, "It doesn't bother me at all in shooting. There is some pain when I take a hard pass if I'm not careful."

Bob Smith and Ronnie Retton are co-captains of West Virginia's Southern Conference basketball team.

Springfield Tops Irondale, 64-49

IRONDALE — Irondale High's Irons, faltering badly in the second half, dropped their second straight game to rival Springfield Township, 64-49, here Tuesday night.

The defeat evened the season record for Coach Les Douglas' charges who won their first two games and then lost to Wintersville last week.

Pint-sized Donald Fraley continued to bombard the hoops for the Irons by pumping in seven field goals and four fouls for 18 points and scoring honors for the night.

The 5-8 forward ran his total point output of the season to 88, an average of 22 per game. Gale Boggs chipped in with nine, Bill Chetock 8 and Lonnie Fraley seven for the losers.

Dan Baldwin Scores 25 To Lead Tigers

By ROB NIBLOCK

Hitting on a sizzling 52 per cent of their shots, the Wellsville Tigers swept by Mingo, 83-74, to record their third victory in five starts Tuesday night at Beacom Memorial Gymnasium.

Five Tiger regulars hit for double figures in the free - scoring game, which was the final for Coach Jack McDevitt's Wellsville cagers before the holiday recess.

WELLSVILLE, which lost "squeakers" to Midland and East Liverpool, will begin its bid for district honors and the sectional title when it travels to Toronto Jan. 2.

Though off on the floor play, the Tigers had their best night from the field this season, hitting 32 of 61 shots. In a torrid third period, Wellsville dropped in five of five from the field immediately after the intermission and finished with 26 points on 12 fielders and two free throws.

In losing their third game in three starts, Coach Mike Rodak's Indians were off from the field in the first two quarters and unable to close the gap despite a strong comeback in the second half.

Mingo, which had beaten New Cumberland in the opener and then lost to powerful Steubenville Big Red, 61-38, had only six field goals in the first half.

But led by Frank Fuscaro, who took scoring honors for the evening with 30 points, Mingo dropped in 22 of 44 attempts from the field in a last-half surge.

TIGER scoring whiz Dan Baldwin led the high-powered Tiger attack with 25 points, just a shade under his average. The 6-2 senior forward, who is making a strong bid for All-Ohio recognition, started slowly but had a 14-point fourth period on four buckets and six successful charity tosses in as many attempts. In the first two periods, he was able to convert only one of seven tries from the foul line.

As a team, however, the Tigers showed improvement at the foul line after their sub-par 8 of 26 conversions against East Liverpool last Saturday night. They connected on 19 of 36 attempts for 53 per cent.

A closely officiated contest, Mingo, too, made numerous trips to the charity stripe, converting 18 of 31 tries.

Franklin Jackson, who continues to play consistent ball for the Tigers, was second high with 15 points and played the boards on even terms with Mingo's 6-4 center, Ralph McKay.

Sophomores Bill DeSarro and Bob Kiggans each had the best scoring nights of their young varsity careers. Kiggans finished with 13 and DeSarro with 12 counters.

Junior guard Milton Lamp, who led the Tiger third-period surge, collected 11 points — all in that third quarter.

Baldwin's brother, Phil, rounded out the Tiger scoring with 7 points.

FUSCARDO, a ball - hawking guard, opened the scoring on a driving one-hander to give Mingo the lead for the first and only time in the contest.

Kiggans quickly knotted the score on a hook from just inside the foul line and Jackson put the Tigers ahead to stay on a layup.

By the end of the first period, the Tigers had a 21-14 advantage. They led 35-22 at the end of the half and 61-43 when the third quarter buzzer sounded.

McKay, who wound up with 16 points, second high for the Indians, and Fuscardo kept Mingo from dropping entirely out of contention in the third quarter.

Capitalizig on ragged Tiger ball-handling in the fourth quarter, the Indians moved from a 20-point deficiency to within 11 points of Wellsville late in the game.

Fuscardo, whose 17 points accounted for nearly half of the Indians' 31 tallies in the final period, made the count 71-60, midway through that quarter. But Baldwin quickly brought the Tigers again to the front on two successful foul conversions and a driving layup.

In the closing minutes, the Tigers again grew careless and Mingo seized the opportunity to narrow the gap to nine points by the time the final buzzer had sounded.

United Snares Overtime Tilt

HANOVERTON — United High's Golden Eagles, tagged as the team to beat in the Columbiana County A scramble, managed to keep their undefeated record intact Tuesday night, but only after squeezing by visiting Southeast, 56-55, in an overtime battle.

The regulation game ended in a 49-49 deadlock, but center Frank Shagnot dumped in six points and Jim Summer one to give the Eagles their fourth straight victory.

Southeast, from Portage County, had a chance to tie the game and force it into a second overtime, but converted only one shot of a two-shot foul and United managed to gain a jump ball as time ran out.

In the closing seconds of the regulation game, United's Summer had a chance for a hero role in winning the game with a foul shot, but converted only once in two attempts to earn United a tie.

Summer and Lindesmith led the way for Coach Ray Russell's club by collecting 17 points each. Shagnot, who provided the victory with the overtime performance when he made two goals and two fouls, finished with 11 points.

The Eagles won the game at the foul line as Southeast had a 20-17 edge in total field goals. Southeast managed to salvage the reserve preliminary, 36-20, over the United reserves.

SALINEVILLE — In a double overtime contest, Coach Dick Jones' Salineville cagers lost their fourth game here Tuesday night to invading Jewett, 69-67.

After each team had dropped in two counters apiece to knot the score at the end of the first extra session, the visitor's Ray Patterson dumped a pair of free throws in the second overtime session to provide the margin of victory.

A tight struggle all the way, the score was tied at the end of each period except the third. At the end of the first stanza each team had 18 points. Salineville had a 40-38 advantage at the half, but the score was tied at 57-57 at the end of the third period and 65-65 when the regulation game ended.

Bill Corum, Sports Columnist, Churchill Downs Head, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Corum, a small town boy who found fame in New York and contentment in the blue grass of Kentucky, died Tuesday night at the age of 63.

Cancer of the lung, complicated by pneumonia, ended his dual career of nationally syndicated sports columnist for the New York Journal American and president of Churchill Downs race track in Louisville, Ky.

He died in New York's St. Luke's Hospital, but as always he did not miss a deadline. He became critically ill over the weekend, and ironically the newspaper for which he worked will not carry his obituary today. Along with eight other metropolitan dailies, it has suspended publication because of a deliverers' strike.

Max Kase, sports editor of the Journal American, said today, "This comes as a great personal shock to me. There is nothing I can add to the wonderful record he has made as a man."

Sports writers and sportsmen across the nation echoed Kase's feelings.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the famous 84-year-old horse racing trainer, said Corum's death was a great loss to racing. "There's nothing you can say about him that isn't real good. He was a wonderful man, a wonderful writer."

Born at Speed, Mo., July 20 1895, Corum began building that reputation in 1925 when he joined the Journal American as a baseball writer. That was the same year he saw his first Kentucky Derby, and he loved and praised the classic race for 3-year-olds so much that in 1949, when Col. Matt Winn died, he was the logical choice for the presidency of the tradition-steeped race track.

Corum continued in his sports writing job, but for two months each spring he went to the blue grass country to conduct the spring meeting of which the derby is the premier attraction.

Two New York Westchester County basketball stars, Ken McComb of White Plains and Don Walsh of Riverdale, are with North Carolina's freshman basketball team. McComb is 6-foot-6 and 235 pounds.

Robertson's Finger Hurt, But He'll Play

CINCINNATI (AP) — Oscar Robertson, all-America basketball standout for the University of Cincinnati has a damaged finger and the team has a game tonight against College of the Pacific.

But he'll still be on hand, and the chances are the injury won't handicap him much in keeping up with his current 42-points-a-game.

Coach George Smith said Tuesday Robertson had a slight dislocation of a little finger in the Marshall game last Saturday.

But Oscar was hard at work Tuesday in practice as usual, although the finger was swollen.

Robertson said, "It doesn't bother me at all in shooting. There is some pain when I take a hard pass if I'm not careful."

Bob Smith and Ronnie Retton are co-captains of West Virginia's Southern Conference basketball team.

Springfield Tops Irondale, 64-49

Chester Breezes To 56-28 Win Over New Cumberland

South Side Pins Fourth Straight Defeat On Newell, 72-49

Losers Tally Only 6 Points In First Half

By CHUCK CRONIN

If ever any basketball team could be called "hot" one night and "cold" the next, New Cumberland High's Blue Raiders would fill the bill perfectly.

After nearly reaching the century mark in trouncing Newell last week, 97-43, the Raiders found making field goals as difficult as pulling teeth in being drubbed by Chester Tuesday night, 56-28.

Their downfall in this game: six points in the first half of play, which may have set some sort of a record for a Class A varsity team in present-day competition.

FOUR POINTS came in the first quarter on a field goal and two foul shots, while the Raiders managed to squeeze in another bucket in the second period, with the clock showing two seconds left in the half.

Meanwhile Chester's Panthers were piling up a 31-6 halftime lead with considerable ease and went on to win in a rout, although New Cumberland managed to regain a little prestige with a 22-point second half.

Coach Max Tuttle's Panthers remained undefeated by posting their second straight victory and also continued a victory streak over New Cumberland which spans over five years.

For Coach Charlie Miller's Raiders, victors over Newell for their only win this year, it was defeat No. 4. Until last night's trouncing, the Raiders had been averaging 74.5 points a game.

HIGH-SCORING Phil Cullen had been averaging 20 points for New Cumberland, but collected only two last night on one field goal. Bill Freshour's 18-point average also dropped considerably. He netted but five points.

Chester, although not too impressive even in victory, found the range for 21 field goals and hit 14 of 22 foul shots to win easily. The losers had 13 goals and made only 2 of 11 free throws.

Using a slow, methodical attack, Chester moved out to a 14-4 first quarter lead with Frank Kenny and Bill Myers setting the pace on a flurry of tip shots.

Kenny finished with 16 points to lead the Chester scoring, while Myers tallied 14 on five goals and four of four free throws. Guard Bob McMahon, after making only a pair of fouls in the first half, hit five straight shots in the fourth quarter and finished third leading scorer for 11 points.

Junior Bob Shaffer contributed seven points on two goals and three of four fouls, letterman Dave Brookes chipped in with six points and Bill Mayhew had two to round out the Chester scoring.

MICKEY PIERCE topped the New Cumberland assault with eight points, while Jerry Pierce had seven and Freshour five.

Chester goaled 21 of 64 shots for a 32 per cent shooting average, while New Cumberland hit 13 of 62 for 29 per cent. A poor first half by the Raiders was due partly to a lack of rebounding, as Chester permitted only one shot at a time for several minutes by New Cumberland.

In the preliminary, New Cumberland's reserves performed just the opposite of the varsity and won 35-25 over Chester.

New Cumberland led 28-8 after three quarters when the Chester jayvees suddenly caught fire and sent 17 points through the hoops in the fourth period. However, the huge lead was too much to overcome.

Haynes paced the winners with 14 points. Eberhart led the Chester scoring with six points, while Kirby, Steele and Burnquist each finished with four.

Vikings Falter Under Surge In Last Half

The losing trail grew longer for Wells High School's Vikings Tuesday night when South Side's rampaging cagers fast-breaked their way to a 72-49 victory at the Newell gym.

The winners unleashed a 32-goal attack in pinning the fourth straight defeat on the Vikings who fell out of contention after halftime.

Newell trailed only one point after the first quarter, 15-14, fell behind 36-23 at halftime, and faltered in the third quarter as the Rams moved out to a 52-39 margin.

The victory was the second of the season for South Side, which has lost three.

Two of South Side's starters hit in the double scoring figures to pace the assault. Golden topped all scorers for the night with 21 points, while Quentin Schmidt had 14. Richard Ashcroft and Frasier each chipped in with 9. Laughlin finished with six.

Newell, with only one lettermen in the fold for Coach John Robison, is averaging 38 points a game. Bob Watkins hit for 13 points to lead the attack against South Side, while Ron Dunlevy and Bob Stine each finished with 11.

In the preliminary, South Side also managed to pick up a victory as the reserves defeated the Newell reserves, 31-26.

Salem Trounces Palestine, 74-57

EAST PALESTINE — Salem High's Quakers, tuning up for next week's date with one of Ohio's top teams — Cleveland East Tech — led all the way in lacing East Palestine here Tuesday night, 74-57.

The rangy Quakers raced out to a 21-9 first quarter lead with a sizzling shooting average and racked up their third straight victory for Coach John Cabas.

Palestine's Bulldogs are now 2-2 for the season under Coach Don Hinten.

Salem, posting a 68 per cent average from the field in the first half, had four cagers hitting in the double figures when the final whistle sounded.

Danny Kritchbaum led the Salem attack with 17 points, while Lehwald had 16, Dietch 12 and Hunter 10.

High-scoring Jim Knight, however, took point honors for the game by pumping in 19 for East Palestine. The Bulldogs had a hot night at the foul line, sinking 23 of 29 shots. However, from the field, the Bulldogs shot only 23 per cent — their lowest mark of the season.

Salem's next game is with Ohio's 1957 champions, East Tech, Dec. 26 at the Salem High gymnasium.

Baylor Starring

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Early indications of activity in the National Basketball Assn., are that Elgin Baylor, former Seattle University ace, could be the rookie of the year among the professionals. In one string of four games Baylor tallied 108 points for the Minneapolis Lakers. In his first 12 games he had amassed 285 points and 193 rebounds.

Clippers Lose Close Contest

SPRINGFIELD — A pair of foul conversions in the last eight seconds spelled defeat for Coach Berryman's Columbiana Clippers, as host Springfield triumphed, 54-52, here Tuesday night.

Columbiana, which beat North Lima, 47-27, in its opener and then bowed to Salem, 69-49, matched the hosts' output from the field of 22 field goals, but was successful on two less foul conversions.

The Clippers had a 31-23 lead at the half and a 40-38 advantage at the close of the third quarter, but were unable to stop a late surge by victors.

J. Szanjkart, who contributed the winning foul shots, was high scorer for the contest with 30 points.

Chester Breezes To 56-28 Win Over New Cumberland

South Side Pins Fourth Straight Defeat On Newell, 72-49

Losers Tally Only 6 Points In First Half

By CHUCK CRONIN

If ever any basketball team could be called "hot" one night and "cold" the next, New Cumberland High's Blue Raiders would fill the bill perfectly.

After nearly reaching the century mark in trouncing Newell last week, 97-43, the Raiders found making field goals as difficult as pulling teeth in being drubbed by Chester Tuesday night, 56-28.

Their downfall in this game: six points in the first half of play, which may have set some sort of a record for a Class A varsity team in present-day competition.

FOUR POINTS came in the first quarter on a field goal and two foul shots, while the Raiders managed to squeeze in another bucket in the second period, with the clock showing two seconds left in the half.

Meanwhile Chester's Panthers were piling up a 31-6 halftime lead with considerable ease and went on to win in a rout, although New Cumberland managed to regain a little prestige with a 22-point second half.

Coach Max Tuttle's Panthers remained undefeated by posting their second straight victory and also continued a victory streak over New Cumberland which spans over five years.

For Coach Charlie Miller's Raiders, victors over Newell for their only win this year, it was defeat No. 4. Until last night's trouncing, the Raiders had been averaging 74.5 points a game.

HIGH-SCORING Phil Cullen had been averaging 20 points for New Cumberland, but collected only two last night on one field goal. Bill Freshour's 18-point average also dropped considerably. He netted but five points.

Chester, although not too impressive even in victory, found the range for 21 field goals and hit 14 of 22 foul shots to win easily. The losers had 13 goals and made only 2 of 11 free throws.

Using a slow, methodical attack, Chester moved out to a 14-4 first quarter lead with Frank Kenny and Bill Myers setting the pace on a flurry of tip shots.

Kenny finished with 16 points to lead the Chester scoring, while Myers tallied 14 on five goals and four of four free throws. Guard Bob McMahon, after making only a pair of fouls in the first half, hit five straight shots in the fourth quarter and finished third leading scorer for 11 points.

Junior Bob Shaffer contributed seven points on two goals and three of four fouls, letterman Dave Brookes chipped in with six points and Bill Mayhew had two to round out the Chester scoring.

MICKEY PIERCE topped the New Cumberland assault with eight points, while Jerry Pierce had seven and Freshour five.

Chester goaled 21 of 64 shots for a 32 per cent shooting average, while New Cumberland hit 13 of 62 for 29 per cent. A poor first half by the Raiders was due partly to a lack of rebounding, as Chester permitted only one shot at a time for several minutes by New Cumberland.

Chester will go after its third victory in a row Friday night against visiting Rochester. Rochester lost to the Panthers last year, 61-54.

In the preliminary, New Cumberland's reserves performed just the opposite of the varsity and won 35-25 over Chester.

New Cumberland led 28-8 after three quarters when the Chester jayvees suddenly caught fire and sent 17 points through the hoops in the fourth period. However, the huge lead was too much to overcome.

Haynes paced the winners with 14 points. Eberhart led the Chester scoring with six points, while Kirby, Steele and Burnquist each finished with four.

'Right-Work' Leader Cites Loan Security

Posted In Bonds Of Manufacturers, Chamber Reserves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The leader of the ill-fated right-to-work proposal reported Monday that the security for a $392,000 campaign loan by a Columbus bank was posted in government bonds taken from the reserves of the Ohio Manufacturers Assn. and the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

State Rep. Elton Kile (R-Madison), chairman of the Committee for Proposal No. 2, Inc., made the report at the request of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Kile said the chamber put up $358,000 worth of bonds and the manufacturers' group posted $50,000 worth — a total of $408,000 par value.

The report showed the chamber also lent the campaign committee another $261,500 directly. That adds up that the chamber was involved financially in the right-to-work campaign for a total of $619,500.

Kile's report said the bonds posted for the bank loan represented reserves the two business groups accumulated over a period of years.

The committee's original report of campaign receipts and expenses originally listed slightly less than $73,000 in contributions and $654,000 received in loans. Brown asked Kile to explain what security was posted for the bank loan.

In a statement accompanying Kile's report, chairman Harry W. Arnold of the chamber's board of trustees explained the chamber's loans:

"Each loan and advance of securities by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce to the Committee for Proposal No. 2, Inc., was in accordance with several authorization actions by the chamber's board of trustees, with carefully studied advice by counsel. The actions taken were upon unanimous votes within that body; there was no division of judgment.

"It became clearly evident to the Committee for Proposal No. 2, a few weeks before the proposed amendment was to go before the people of Ohio for their decision, that a public information effort under contract faced drastic reduction or cancellation unless strong supporting measures were taken.

"The officers and trustees of the Ohio chamber, becoming aware of this situation, thereupon pledged to advance—in the form of loans—invested reserve funds to permit the committee to obtain from a bank needed funds to carry out its contracted newspaper, television and radio advertising.

1,500 Pilots Set To Strike Friday Night

CHICAGO (AP)—The Air Line Pilots Assn. says 1,500 pilots of American Airlines will strike at 11:59 p.m. Friday in a dispute over wages and working conditions.

The annoucement Tuesday night came in the midst of emergency meetings in Chicago between the union and company. ALPA said the negotiations would continue.

In New York the company said it would continue to accept reservations despite the strike threat.

C. A. Sayen, president of ALPA said weeklong negotiations had failed to result in satisfactory progress, and that "Our only remaining reluctant alternative is to proceed with our original plans."

American Airlines pilots had scheduled a strike at midnight Nov. 25 but were restrained by a temporary injunction issued by a federal judge in New York. The same judge declined to issue a permanent injunction while the Chicago negotiations were in progress.

'Right-Work' Leader Cites Loan Security

Posted In Bonds Of Manufacturers, Chamber Reserves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The leader of the ill-fated right-to-work proposal reported Monday that the security for a $392,000 campaign loan by a Columbus bank was posted in government bonds taken from the reserves of the Ohio Manufacturers Assn. and the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

State Rep. Elton Kile (R-Madison), chairman of the Committee for Proposal No. 2, Inc., made the report at the request of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Kile said the chamber put up $358,000 worth of bonds and the manufacturers' group posted $50,000 worth — a total of $408,000 par value.

The report showed the chamber also lent the campaign committee another $261,500 directly. That adds up that the chamber was involved financially in the right-to-work campaign for a total of $619,500.

Kile's report said the bonds posted for the bank loan represented reserves the two business groups accumulated over a period of years.

The committee's original report of campaign receipts and expenses originally listed slightly less than $73,000 in contributions and $654,000 received in loans. Brown asked Kile to explain what security was posted for the bank loan.

In a statement accompanying Kile's report, chairman Harry W. Arnold of the chamber's board of trustees explained the chamber's loans:

"Each loan and advance of securities by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce to the Committee for Proposal No. 2, Inc., was in accordance with several authorization actions by the chamber's board of trustees, with carefully studied advice by counsel. The actions taken were upon unanimous votes within that body; there was no division of judgment.

"It became clearly evident to the Committee for Proposal No. 2, a few weeks before the proposed amendment was to go before the people of Ohio for their decision, that a public information effort under contract faced drastic reduction or cancellation unless strong supporting measures were taken.

"The officers and trustees of the Ohio chamber, becoming aware of this situation, thereupon pledged to advance—in the form of loans—invested reserve funds to permit the committee to obtain from a bank needed funds to carry out its contracted newspaper, television and radio advertising.

Defiance Has Chain Broken

By The Associated Press

Defiance College dropped its first basketball game of the season Tuesday night after winning six straight.

The 69-68 loss to Concordia of Fort Wayne, Ind., came in an overtime during which the winners' leading scorer, Tom Faszholz, scored 8 of his team's 10 points. Faszholz was high point man for the night with 33.

The two teams were deadlocked at the end of regulation play at 59-all.

Elsewhere on the Ohio college basketball scene, Capital captured its fourth win to go with one loss in a 67-58 victory over Wooster, which now has an identical record. The game was decided on foul shots—Wooster commiting 25 personals and Capital capitalizing on 29 of its 36 free throw attempts.

Muskingum won its third straight Ohio Conference tilt and has a 4-1 season record after defeating Otterbein, 92-64. It was the winless Otters' fifth loss.

Wilmington nailed down its second Mid-Ohio League game at the expense of Cedarville, 93-66. The Quakers had a 20-point halftime lead and used reserves through most of the second half. Pete Reese of the losing Yellow Jackets salvaged scoring honors with 24 points. Cedarville is now 0-3, all in the league.

Heidelberg shot off to an early lead and downed Bluffton, 63-57. The Student Princes held off a Bluffton threat in the late minutes when the Beavers got to within two points of the winners. Both teams are now 1-3.

Defending champion Miami of the Mid - American Conference, down one point at intermission, came back in the second half to edge Marshall, 73-69. The losers held as much as a 13-point advantage in the opening period. Marshall's Leo Byrd had much to do with his team's initial scoring spree, getting 30 points for the night. Miami's record stands at 2-3 over-all while Marshall is 4-2.

In the only other action, Western Reserve beat Hiram, 72-54.

Browns Likely To Do More Passing Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, who open practice today for Sunday's return engagement with the New York Giants, probably will do more passing next Sunday than they did last Sunday.

The Browns went to New York last Sunday expecting to throw more, but the weather, field conditions and the fact that they moved to the front early in the game altered plans.

"Actually we tried to throw about 15 passes, but only got 12 of them off," said Coach Paul Brown. "We had planned to throw about 20 times."

Olson Registers Third Straight By Confused TKO

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Bobo Olson won his third straight comeback fight Tuesday night — a confused technical knockout over young Tommy Villa, who refused to resume the scrap after being fouled.

The California Athletic Commission begins an investigation today of the verdict, although it appears Referee Johnny Reno's decision will stand.

Olson, former middleweight champ who now lives in San Francisco, landed a low left at 1:28 of the fifth round and Villa dropped. Reno called foul, took a point from Olson's score and ordered a five-minute rest for Villa, a 23-year-old making his 23rd fight.

Villa, of San Jose Calif., said he wouldn't continue. He wasn't examined until after he reached his dressing room. There commission physician Dr. G. K. Nider of Fresno said he couldn't find any sign of swelling, or any damage.

Olson, fighting now as a light heavyweight at 175, said he hadn't thought the blow was low. He said Villa, 172, covered well and he was trying to find an opening.

A capacity crowd of 3,000 booed the foul, the five-minute rest and the decision. Villa was subbing for Bobby Jones of Oakland, Calif., who was ill.

Perkins And Vasquez To Clash In TV Bout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young Eddie Perkins, back on television for the second time in five weeks, meets veteran Baby Vasquez tonight in a 10-round lightweight bout in Capitol Arena.

Perkins outpointed another more experienced hand, Frankie Ryff, in his TV debut last month but is rated a slight underdog to Vasquez.

Boxing fans may see how it all turns out on the usual Wednesday TV fight hookup (ABC, 10 p. m. EST).

Vasquez, 27, is lightweight champion of Mexico and has won 52 of his 68 fights.

Perkins, 21-year-old Chicagoan, hadn't beaten anyone of prominence until he disrupted Ryff's comeback plans. In two years of fighting professionally, Perkins has won 12 and lost 4.

Doby Would Like To Know If He'll Play First Base

CLEVELAND (AP) — Centerfielder Larry Doby wants some official word on whether or not he will play first base for the Cleveland Indians next season.

When the Tribe traded first sacker Vic Wertz to the Boston Red Sox for centerfield Jim Piersall, Indians' manager Joe Gordon said Doby might be moved to first. Piersall is a sure bet to replace Doby in the outfield.

Commenting on reports that he would play first, Doby said:

"I wish somebody would let me in on it.

"If I'd go to spring training as a first baseman, I'd get a glove now and brush up. I could get two months practice before leaving for Tucson."

Doby played first base in the minor leagues and broke in with the Indians in 1947 at that position before moving to the outfield. Last season he had trouble making the long throw from center field because of a sore arm. He worked out at first in the closing weeks of the 1958 campaign.

"I like it there,' Doby said, "and besides it might add a couple of years to my career."

Doby said of Piersall, who at 29 is five years younger than Doby:

"Maybe he can reach a few balls I can't get anymore. I think he'll help us a lot. So will Billy Martin."

High-Scoring Wolf

Hickey, 49ers' New Coach, Sees Club's First Title

SAN FRANCISCO (ap) — Howard (Red) Hickey, new head coach of the San Francisco 49ers, foresees the first National Football League title in the club's history as not too far off—if he can surround himself with players and assistants who have lots of desire.

That's just what he is going after, said the man who has coached the backs and ends. He was elevated Tuesday to the spot vacated by Frankie Albert because boos of the fans were upsetting Albert's family.

The 41-year-old former University of Arkansas star end, who came up through the pro ranks as player and coach, said he's determined to have players who will go all out. And his assistants must be "people who are going to want to coach football all their lives," he added.

A good indication of just how much desire means to Hickey: "I'm not much of a platoon man. Excuse me for putting it this way, but in my book you're either a fisherman or a bait cutter."

He's sold on his quarterbacks, Y. A. Tittle and John Brodie, "the best one-two punch in football."

Right now, he feels the 49ers have "the nucleus to become a winner." But he feels the club needs to draft new blood. He's willing to trade. And 49er scouts will be at every bowl game over the holidays, on the alert for potential talent.

East Junior High Loses To Central Five, 38-28

Steubenville Central Catholic Junior High cashed in heavily at the foul stripe to hand East Junior High its second loss of the year, 38-28, Tuesday at the East court.

Coach Dom Cascio's East squad had only one less field goal than did Steubenville, 13-12, but made only four of 18 free throws. Central made 12 of 29.

East got off to a slow start, trailing 10-6 at the first quarter mark and 30-14 at halftime, and scored only five points in the third quarter.

Vince McKinnon led the East attack with five goals for 10 points. Roger Linville and Gary Steffen each chipped in with six. East is now 1-2 for the season.

Lack Of Probation System Cited For Prisoner Expense

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Because Ohio does not have an adequate probation system, says the Ohio Committee on Delinquency and Crime, the state is forced to spend much more than it should to take care of prisoners.

And since Ohio ranks 12th in the nation for prison commitments, this is contributing to over-population of the state's penal institutions, the committee adds.

The statements were made in a booklet, "Adult Probation in Ohio," released Tuesday.

The committee's report said one-third of Ohio's 88 counties place a man on probation without a presentence investigation into his criminal, psychological and social history. Because of this, the report added, "The element of guess or chance in the correctional process is unfortunately high."

Moore Wins Award As 'Fighter Of Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, after 22 years of pro battling, today won the award he prized above all others—the Edward J. Neil Memorial plaque as Fighter of the Year.

He was the unanimous pick of the Boxing Writers Assn. Ageless Archie, who celebrated another birthday 42, 45, or 49 last Saturday, will share the honors with another old-timer, Broadcaster-writer Sam Taub, at the BWA's annual dinner early in January.

Taub, a 72-year-old New Yorker and a pioneer boxing broadcaster, was chosen to receive the James J. Walker Memorial trophy "for long and meritorious service to boxing."

Coroner Rules Gas Fumes Fatal To Truck Drivers

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP) — A coroner's jury has ruled that carbon monoxide gas caused the deaths of two Arkansas truck drivers in a truck stop bunkhouse here Dec. 7.

The verdict said the source of the gas was not known. State officials have said that the gas apparently came from a liquefied gas heater.

Tuesday's inquest concerned only the deaths of John Parker, 26, Little Rock, and William Briner, 22, Malvern, both employes of the D. W. Hoskins Co. of Malvern. The jury wasn't asked to consider the death of Louis Lee Warden, 24, Little Rock, who died in the bunkhouse under similar circumstances Dec. 5. Warden also was a driver for the Hoskins company. The Arkansas state medical examiner has said he too died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP) — A man was moaning into his telephone. The operator told police, who pounded up three flights of stairs and burst into his apartment.

The man was lying down with the receiver on his chest—snoring.

He had made a call while lying in bed, he said, and fell asleep waiting for an answer.

FBI Seeks Indiana Man In Check Case

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The FBI said Tuesday night it is looking for Gilbert M. Cook, 40, former resident of Bedford, Ind., in connection with the forging and cashing of $16,000 worth of blank insurance claim checks.

Cook, a former adjuster for the Massachusetts bonding and Insurance Co., was indicted by the federal grand jury here last week on three counts of interstate transportation of stolen property.

Edward J. Powers, FBI agent in charge here, said Cook used one of 25 blank checks taken from his former employer to buy a 20-gauge shotgun at Van Wert, Ohio. Powers said Cook also carries a knife and a revolver and is considered dangerous.

Murder-Suicide Ruled In Man-Wife Deaths

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A coroner returned a verdict of murder-suicide in the shooting deaths of a 65-year-old retired Air Force officer and his wife, whose bodies were found Tuesday night in their home in nearby New Carlisle.

Coroner Austin Richards said Albert J. Snodgrass, 65, shot his wife, Jennie, about 45, with a rifle, then took his own life the same way.

Police entered the home after neighbors reported they hadn't seen the couple all day. Neighbors said Snodgrass was nervous and despondent over ill health.

UAW Delays Decision On Appeal In Ruling

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers, on strike at Ex-Cell-O Corp. for eight weeks, delayed a decision today on whether to appeal an adverse ruling on an unfair labor practices charge.

The regional National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) Tuesday threw out a UAW complaint over Ex-Cell-O's refusal to bargain for a national contract. The company has insisted on local plant contracts.

Emil Mazey, secretary, said the UAW will decide within a few days whether to appeal to the full NLRB.

Ex-Cell-O, which makes machine tools and precision instruments, has plants in Detroit and Traveese City and in Fostoria, Lima and Bluffton, Ohio.

The Syracuse Nations of the National Basketball Assn. are back down to earth today and the Boston Celtics and New York Knicks are still up in the air as to who wants first place in the Eastern Division.

The Nats had their seven game winning string snapped by the Celtics, 108-104 in the first game of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader Tuesday night. The Knicks, who had to win to stay tied for first place, upended the Cincinnati Royals 118-106 in the nightcap of the New York feature. This was the only NBA action.

Doby Would Like To Know If He'll Play First Base

CLEVELAND (AP) — Centerfielder Larry Doby wants some official word on whether or not he will play first base for the Cleveland Indians next season.

When the Tribe traded first sacker Vic Wertz to the Boston Red Sox for centerfield Jim Piersall, Indians' manager Joe Gordon said Doby might be moved to first. Piersall is a sure bet to replace Doby in the outfield.

Commenting on reports that he would play first, Doby said:

"I wish somebody would let me in on it.

"If I'd go to spring training as a first baseman, I'd get a glove now and brush up. I could get two months practice before leaving for Tucson."

Doby played first base in the minor leagues and broke in with the Indians in 1947 at that position before moving to the outfield. Last season he had trouble making the long throw from center field because of a sore arm. He worked out at first in the closing weeks of the 1958 campaign.

"I like it there,' Doby said, "and besides it might add a couple of years to my career."

Doby said of Piersall, who at 29 is five years younger than Doby:

"Maybe he can reach a few balls I can't get anymore. I think he'll help us a lot. So will Billy Martin."

High-Scoring Wolf

KANSAS CITY — Junior Wolf, a 183-pound 6-foot-2 Kiowa Indian, had a big day for Panhandle A. and M. when that team trounced St. Mary's of Dodge City, Kan., 81-18. Wolf scored eight touchdowns for 48 points and a new National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics game record.

Hickey, 49ers' New Coach, Sees Club's First Title

SAN FRANCISCO (ap) — Howard (Red) Hickey, new head coach of the San Francisco 49ers, foresees the first National Football League title in the club's history as not too far off—if he can surround himself with players and assistants who have lots of desire.

That's just what he is going after, said the man who has coached the backs and ends. He was elevated Tuesday to the spot vacated by Frankie Albert because boos of the fans were upsetting Albert's family.

The 41-year-old former University of Arkansas star end, who came up through the pro ranks as player and coach, said he's determined to have players who will go all out. And his assistants must be "people who are going to want to coach football all their lives," he added.

A good indication of just how much desire means to Hickey: "I'm not much of a platoon man. Excuse me for putting it this way, but in my book you're either a fisherman or a bait cutter."

He's sold on his quarterbacks, Y. A. Tittle and John Brodie, "the best one-two punch in football."

Right now, he feels the 49ers have "the nucleus to become a winner." But he feels the club needs to draft new blood. He's willing to trade. And 49er scouts will be at every bowl game over the holidays, on the alert for potential talent.

East Junior High Loses To Central Five, 38-28

Steubenville Central Catholic Junior High cashed in heavily at the foul stripe to hand East Junior High its second loss of the year, 38-28, Tuesday at the East court.

Coach Dom Cascio's East squad had only one less field goal than did Steubenville, 13-12, but made only four of 18 free throws. Central made 12 of 29.

East got off to a slow start, trailing 10-6 at the first quarter mark and 30-14 at halftime, and scored only five points in the third quarter.

Vince McKinnon led the East attack with five goals for 10 points. Roger Linville and Gary Steffen each chipped in with six. East is now 1-2 for the season.

France's overseas territories are given the option under the new constitution of retaining their status, becoming self-governing within a new French community or fully integrating with France.

Lack Of Probation System Cited For Prisoner Expense

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Because Ohio does not have an adequate probation system, says the Ohio Committee on Delinquency and Crime, the state is forced to spend much more than it should to take care of prisoners.

And since Ohio ranks 12th in the nation for prison commitments, this is contributing to over-population of the state's penal institutions, the committee adds.

The statements were made in a booklet, "Adult Probation in Ohio," released Tuesday.

The committee's report said one-third of Ohio's 88 counties place a man on probation without a presentence investigation into his criminal, psychological and social history. Because of this, the report added, "The element of guess or chance in the correctional process is unfortunately high."

Moore Wins Award As 'Fighter Of Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, after 22 years of pro battling, today won the award he prized above all others—the Edward J. Neil Memorial plaque as Fighter of the Year.

He was the unanimous pick of the Boxing Writers Assn. Ageless Archie, who celebrated another birthday 42, 45, or 49 last Saturday, will share the honors with another old-timer, Broadcaster-writer Sam Taub, at the BWA's annual dinner early in January.

Taub, a 72-year-old New Yorker and a pioneer boxing broadcaster, was chosen to receive the James J. Walker Memorial trophy "for long and meritorious service to boxing."

Coroner Rules Gas Fumes Fatal To Truck Drivers

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP) — A coroner's jury has ruled that carbon monoxide gas caused the deaths of two Arkansas truck drivers in a truck stop bunkhouse here Dec. 7.

The verdict said the source of the gas was not known. State officials have said that the gas apparently came from a liquefied gas heater.

Tuesday's inquest concerned only the deaths of John Parker, 26, Little Rock, and William Briner, 22, Malvern, both employes of the D. W. Hoskins Co. of Malvern. The jury wasn't asked to consider the death of Louis Lee Warden, 24, Little Rock, who died in the bunkhouse under similar circumstances Dec. 5. Warden also was a driver for the Hoskins company. The Arkansas state medical examiner has said he too died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Man Moaning Into His Phone Just Snoring

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP) — A man was moaning into his telephone. The operator told police, who pounded up three flights of stairs and burst into his apartment.

The man was lying down with the receiver on his chest—snoring.

He had made a call while lying in bed, he said, and fell asleep waiting for an answer.

Louisianna State was the only major college football team to win every game during 1958.

FBI Seeks Indiana Man In Check Case

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The FBI said Tuesday night it is looking for Gilbert M. Cook, 40, former resident of Bedford, Ind., in connection with the forging and cashing of $16,000 worth of blank insurance claim checks.

Cook, a former adjuster for the Massachusetts bonding and Insurance Co., was indicted by the federal grand jury here last week on three counts of interstate transportation of stolen property.

Edward J. Powers, FBI agent in charge here, said Cook used one of 25 blank checks taken from his former employer to buy a 20-gauge shotgun at Van Wert, Ohio. Powers said Cook also carries a knife and a revolver and is considered dangerous.

Murder-Suicide Ruled In Man-Wife Deaths

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A coroner returned a verdict of murder-suicide in the shooting deaths of a 65-year-old retired Air Force officer and his wife, whose bodies were found Tuesday night in their home in nearby New Carlisle.

Coroner Austin Richards said Albert J. Snodgrass, 65, shot his wife, Jennie, about 45, with a rifle, then took his own life the same way.

Police entered the home after neighbors reported they hadn't seen the couple all day. Neighbors said Snodgrass was nervous and despondent over ill health.

W. L. Brann's Challedon won the Pimlico Special twice, scoring in 1939 and again in 1940.

UAW Delays Decision On Appeal In Ruling

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers, on strike at Ex-Cell-O Corp. for eight weeks, delayed a decision today on whether to appeal an adverse ruling on an unfair labor practices charge.

The regional National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) Tuesday threw out a UAW complaint over Ex-Cell-O's refusal to bargain for a national contract. The company has insisted on local plant contracts.

Emil Mazey, secretary, said the UAW will decide within a few days whether to appeal to the full NLRB.

Ex-Cell-O, which makes machine tools and precision instruments, has plants in Detroit and Traveese City and in Fostoria, Lima and Bluffton, Ohio.

Neighbor Admits Slaying

Expectant Mother Slain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A tiny crib stood at the foot of the still bloody bed. Soft white blankets edged in satin were gently folded over its sides in anticipation of a birth, perhaps a Christmas child.

But the birth will never come. The expectant mother, Mrs. Janice Ora Porter, 24, is dead, victim of a savage assault and a bullet in the brain.

Her body, trussed with wire, gagged and blindfolded, was discovered Tuesday by her father-in-law when he returned to his home near here where she and her husband lived.

Sheriff's deputies arrested David S. Smith, 20, who lived just up the road from the brutal slaying scene, and said he admitted the killing. He is being held for investigation of murder.

Smith was quoted as saying he had planned for two or three days to criminally assault the young mother-to-be.

Deputies said Mrs. Porter, who was expecting her first child in a few days, apparently was ironing when Smith knocked on her door and asked if she had seen his missing cat.

But he came back a second time, he told authorities, and found a .22 caliber revolver in the Porter home. Smith said he didn't feel that Mrs. Porter knew he was in the house.

Investigators said he came upon her with the gun in his hand, blindfolded and gagged her; then, after assaulting her, shot her in the forehead. However, Coroner Robert Evans said she was not raped in the legal sense of the word.

When found, her hands were crossed behind her and bound with twine, Sheriff Stacy Hall related. She was lying on her back on a bed, her clothes ripped open.

Deputies were led to Smith by footprints in the snow from the victim's house to his, about 100 yards away.

Smith is a part-time student at Ohio State University, where Mrs. Porter's husband, Myron, 26, is a senior in the college of dentistry.

The husband stared through a picture window in the new ranch type home and sobbed, "Everything's gone. Everything's gone now."

He clenched and unclenched his fists as he paced the floor. Finally he sat down in a chair and cried out: "Oh, no. God, it can't be."

When Dr. Evans, arrived at the home, he bent over the body of the attractive young mother, listening for a heartbeat in the hope that immediate surgery might save the unborn child. There was no heartbeat.

In Mrs. Porter's room books on infant care line the dresser to the right of the bed where she was found.

Italian Tailor Brings Gifts For Ike—One's Vicuna Coat

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Italian tailor is in town with expensive gifts for President Eisenhower — a vicuna overcoat and a cashmere golfing jacket.

But, after learning how the word vicuna still causes government officials to wince, he hasn't tried to go near the White House to present them personally to the President.

Instead, Angelo Litrico of Rome said he would turn over his two hand-made creations to the Italian Embassy. Ambassador Manlio Brosio, he said, has assured him they will be delivered to the White House.

When asked, the Italian Embassy said Litrico must be mistaken.

Brosio has offered to send along the cashmere golfing jacket to the White House, the embassy said, but the ambassador said nothing about the vicuna coat.

The White House kept a strict silence about Eisenhower's attitude toward the intended gifts. Associate press secretary Anne Wheaton said Litrico has "no appointment—none whatsoever."

The 30-year-old Litrico, operator of a fashionable shop in Rome, said he knows nothing about the furor created last summer by the disclosure that a vicuna overcoat was given to former presidential aide Sherman Adams by Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

"I'm not a politician," he said. "I'm a tailor. It's not my fault that vicuna has suddenly become a bad word. It's a beautiful material — the very best."

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek have shown no reluctance in accepting his gifts when he visited their countries, Litrico said.

"I would never visit a foreign country without giving a present to the boss. I give it out of my heart," he said.

Mastoid Surgery For Child, 4, Financed By Clinic Of BPW

The Child Health Clinic, maintained by the Business & Professional Women's Club for treatment of underprivileged youngsters, literally meant a new lease on life for a 4-year-old Dresden Ave. boy, who is recovering after surgery to correct what a physician described as "a very bad mastoid condition."

Although he still is frail as a result of a long siege with the ear condition and the surgery that followed, the boy is staging a recovery at his home following seven weeks in City Hospital and Pittsburgh Eye and Ear Hospital.

Best of all for his financially hard - pressed parents, the BPW aid and hospital insurance carried by the father have meant that all except about $50 of the expense has been taken care of. For a family with seven other children, the burden would have been almost impossible without aid from the women's club.

The boy's case first was brought to medical attention when his mother took him to City Hall for the monthly session of the 11-year-old BPW clinic. The physician who examined him ordered the boy admitted to City Hospital immediately because of a serious discharge from the ear. After 10 days treatment at the local hospital, the youngster was removed to Pittsburgh Eye and Ear Hospital for surgery. He was discharged about a week ago.

The Child Health Clinic has treated about 500 youngsters in its 11-year history, including about 100 for whom tonsillectomies were provided. The clinic is held the second Tuesday of each month. The patients are made up ordinarily of youngsters requiring immunization or medicine.

Operation of the clinic costs approximately $1,800 a year, which is raised by a mail campaign for public subscriptions.

U.S.-Piloted Plane Seen In Space In Year

NAGS HEAD, N.C. (AP)—This 55th anniversary of powered flight brought a prediction today that the United States will send a piloted aircraft into the fringes of space within a year.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) linked the prediction with praise for Orville and Wilbur Wright, who made the first successful flight in a powered aircraft in 1903.

Monroney's speech was prepared for a luncheon marking the anniversary of the event, which took place at Kitty Hawk, near here.

"With the same courage and vision as the Wright brothers," Monroney said, "modern pioneers will strike through the chains that hold man to the earth's atmosphere just as Orville and Wilbur Wright broke the chains which held us to the ground back in 1903."

Tracing the progress of aviation since then, Monroney said: "This year we will put a man into outer space, some 100 miles above the earth, in a man-piloted aircraft. The X15 will be flying before the next Wright Day is observed. . ."

The Air Force's X15 space research plane is expected to start test flights soon.

Neighbor Admits Slaying

Expectant Mother Slain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A tiny crib stood at the foot of the still bloody bed. Soft white blankets edged in satin were gently folded over its sides in anticipation of a birth, perhaps a Christmas child.

But the birth will never come. The expectant mother, Mrs. Janice Ora Porter, 24, is dead, victim of a savage assault and a bullet in the brain.

Her body, trussed with wire, gagged and blindfolded, was discovered Tuesday by her father-in-law when he returned to his home near here where she and her husband lived.

Sheriff's deputies arrested David S. Smith, 20, who lived just up the road from the brutal slaying scene, and said he admitted the killing. He is being held for investigation of murder.

Smith was quoted as saying he had planned for two or three days to criminally assault the young mother-to-be.

Deputies said Mrs. Porter, who was expecting her first child in a few days, apparently was ironing when Smith knocked on her door and asked if she had seen his missing cat.

But he came back a second time, he told authorities, and found a .22 caliber revolver in the Porter home. Smith said he didn't feel that Mrs. Porter knew he was in the house.

Investigators said he came upon her with the gun in his hand, blindfolded and gagged her; then, after assaulting her, shot her in the forehead. However, Coroner Robert Evans said she was not raped in the legal sense of the word.

When found, her hands were crossed behind her and bound with twine, Sheriff Stacy Hall related. She was lying on her back on a bed, her clothes ripped open.

Deputies were led to Smith by footprints in the snow from the victim's house to his, about 100 yards away.

Smith is a part-time student at Ohio State University, where Mrs. Porter's husband, Myron, 26, is a senior in the college of dentistry.

The husband stared through a picture window in the new ranch type home and sobbed, "Everything's gone. Everything's gone now."

He clenched and unclenched his fists as he paced the floor. Finally he sat down in a chair and cried out: "Oh, no. God, it can't be."

When Dr. Evans, arrived at the home, he bent over the body of the attractive young mother, listening for a heartbeat in the hope that immediate surgery might save the unborn child. There was no heartbeat.

In Mrs. Porter's room books on infant care line the dresser to the right of the bed where she was found.

A RINGLING APPEAL. Harold Allison, general chairman of the Salvation Army's Christmas and winter welfare drive, today made a new plea for contributions toward the goal of $6,000. Funds are being sought through the traditional tripods and kettles, counter receptacles and letters. The money realized will be used for the needy. Senior-Major Elizabeth Thomas, an Army Christmas worker, joined in the appeal.

Italian Tailor Brings Gifts For Ike—One's Vicuna Coat

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Italian tailor is in town with expensive gifts for President Eisenhower — a vicuna overcoat and a cashmere golfing jacket.

But, after learning how the word vicuna still causes government officials to wince, he hasn't tried to go near the White House to present them personally to the President.

Instead, Angelo Litrico of Rome said he would turn over his two hand-made creations to the Italian Embassy. Ambassador Manlio Brosio, he said, has assured him they will be delivered to the White House.

When asked, the Italian Embassy said Litrico must be mistaken.

Brosio has offered to send along the cashmere golfing jacket to the White House, the embassy said, but the ambassador said nothing about the vicuna coat.

The White House kept a strict silence about Eisenhower's attitude toward the intended gifts. Associate press secretary Anne Wheaton said Litrico has "no appointment—none whatsoever."

The 30-year-old Litrico, operator of a fashionable shop in Rome, said he knows nothing about the furor created last summer by the disclosure that a vicuna overcoat was given to former presidential aide Sherman Adams by Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

"I'm not a politician," he said. "I'm a tailor. It's not my fault that vicuna has suddenly become a bad word. It's a beautiful material — the very best."

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek have shown no reluctance in accepting his gifts when he visited their countries, Litrico said.

"I would never visit a foreign country without giving a present to the boss. I give it out of my heart," he said.

Mastoid Surgery For Child, 4, Financed By Clinic Of BPW

The Child Health Clinic, maintained by the Business & Professional Women's Club for treatment of underprivileged youngsters, literally meant a new lease on life for a 4-year-old Dresden Ave. boy, who is recovering after surgery to correct what a physician described as "a very bad mastoid condition."

Although he still is frail as a result of a long siege with the ear condition and the surgery that followed, the boy is staging a recovery at his home following seven weeks in City Hospital and Pittsburgh Eye and Ear Hospital.

Best of all for his financially hard - pressed parents, the BPW aid and hospital insurance carried by the father have meant that all except about $50 of the expense has been taken care of. For a family with seven other children, the burden would have been almost impossible without aid from the women's club.

The boy's case first was brought to medical attention when his mother took him to City Hall for the monthly session of the 11-year-old BPW clinic. The physician who examined him ordered the boy admitted to City Hospital immediately because of a serious discharge from the ear. After 10 days treatment at the local hospital, the youngster was removed to Pittsburgh Eye and Ear Hospital for surgery. He was discharged about a week ago.

The Child Health Clinic has treated about 500 youngsters in its 11-year history, including about 100 for whom tonsillectomies were provided. The clinic is held the second Tuesday of each month. The patients are made up ordinarily of youngsters requiring immunization or medicine.

Operation of the clinic costs approximately $1,800 a year, which is raised by a mail campaign for public subscriptions.
